Kennedy Calls Upon Communist World To Join In New United Bid For Peace

Warns, However, America Will Not Soften Objectives

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. Kennedy in his first moments as president today invited the Communist world to join in a new beginning of "the quest for peace."

After taking the oath as the nation's 35th chief executive, Kennedy said in his prepared inaugural address:

"Let us begin anew—remembering on both sides that civility is not a sign of weakness, and sincerity is always subject to proof. Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate."

He said, "Let both sides explore what problems unite us instead of belaboring the problems that divide us."

"Let both sides, for the first time, formulate serious and precise proposals for the inspection and control of arms—and bring the absolute power to destroy other nations under the absolute control of all nations."

But repeatedly he put the Communist bloc on notice that he intends no softening of American purpose.

"Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill," Kennedy said in the brief address setting the tone of his administration, "that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty." Kennedy said the United States does not dare tempt the adversary nations by allowing itself to be weak—"only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed."

Although Kennedy made no direct reference to the situation in Cuba, he in effect reaffirmed the Monroe Doctrine when he said:

"Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house."

In a call for Western unity, he said, "We dare not meet a powerful challenge at odds and split asunder."

He pledged to help underdeveloped nations to help themselves

"not because the Communists are doing it, but because it is right."

To his own fellow-citizens Kennedy said, "ask not what your country will do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

As for himself, he said "in the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger."

"I do not shrink from this responsibility—I welcome it. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other person or any other generation."

"The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it—and the glow from that fire can truly light the world."

Kennedy, at 43 the youngest man ever elected president, said he knows neither he nor anyone else alive today may live to see "the new world of law" he envisages.

But "let us begin," he said, by trying to achieve "a beach-head of cooperation . . . in the jungles of suspicion."

The note he sounded during his campaign, of young men setting out again to push back a frontier, echoed throughout a speech devoted in almost every word to the problems that haunt a peace-seeking world, rather than to domestic issues.

"Let the word go forth," he proclaimed early in the address, "that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans—born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a cold and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage, and unwilling to witness or permit the slow undoing of those human rights to which this nation has always been committed."

Then the new President made these pledges to the peoples outside the Iron Curtain—pledges, as contrasted with what he termed his "request" for a joint effort with the other camp:

To "old Allies whose cultural and spiritual origins we share . . . the loyalty of faithful friends . . . we dare not meet a powerful challenge at odds and split asunder."

Still Colder Due Following 3-Inch Snow

Highways Slippery Despite Cindering; More Flurries Seen

Over 3 inches of snow blanketed the Tri-State district today as cold weather moved in after the second storm of the month. There will be more light snow or flurries.

The snowfall left area roads slick and dangerous in spots despite cindering and the State Highway Department's garage at Leontia said there was some drifting in the country, especially on east and west highways caught in the biting crosswinds.

The snow began with about an inch fall early Thursday and continued intermittently throughout the day and last night, reaching an accumulation of 3 inches by 4 a. m., when skies cleared.

State and county crews in Columbiana, Beaver and Hancock were out cindering most of the night as the depth of the snow mounted and city crews cindered grades and principal intersections.

There were tieups this morning on the Millvale hill near Salem and on the Route 7 hill north of Rogers. Some road crews were using plows.

County roads were snow-covered and slippery in spots but John Neill, superintendent of highways, said his ashing crews should have them in good condition by noon. None of the crews was called out last night.

In downtown East Liverpool, streets were covered with loose snow this morning, overlaid by ice in some spots.

3 New Aspirants File For May 2 Primaries

Three more candidates filed Thursday afternoon with the County Election Board, boosting to 24 the total number entered for the May 2 city and village primaries.

They are: Raymond E. Dixon, Republican, for Lisbon councilman; Jack Coen, Republican, for East Palestine solicitor; and Harold J. Asty, Democrat, for Third Ward councilman at Salem.

The deadline is Feb. 1.

102 Escape Death

Only Four Killed In Airliner Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—A jet airliner crashed Thursday night seconds after taking off in a wind-whipped snowstorm. The huge ship's speed sent it slamming across a highway, clipping an auto and skidding in flames into a marsh.

Of the 106 persons reported aboard, 102 escaped death, although at least 26 were injured, several critically.

The dead tentatively were identified as four of the eight crew members — three men and the woman purser. Sixty-one of the 98 passengers aboard the four-engine airliner are residents of the United States.

The airliner, a DC8B of Aeromexico, went down at 8:25 p. m. It was bound nonstop for Mexico City.

One survivor, G. Terry Sechrist of Farmington, Conn., said the plane got about 50 feet in the air, then skidded down. Other survivors weren't certain if the plane ever got off the ground.

'Big One For Kennedy'

West Virginia Float Tells Viewers It Aided Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Virginia proclaimed itself "The Big One For Kennedy" with its float in the parade honoring John F. Kennedy's inauguration as president today.

The float was designed to remind viewers along the parade route down Pennsylvania Avenue that West Virginia played a big part in helping Kennedy along his way to the White House.

The float, in pale blue, gold and white, carried a huge numeral "1" to recall that West Virginia went for Kennedy in his crucial preferential primary contest last May and again in the general election.

Leading the state's section in the parade was Gov. William Wallace

Lot Of Lives Saved By Lack Of Hysteria

NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous survivors of the Mexican jet airliner crash Thursday night said a lack of hysteria probably saved a lot of lives.

"The people were excited but there was nothing you could call a real panic," said Patricia Smedick of Hartford, Conn.

"For the most part, people were courteous in letting others get out."

Idlewild Airport observers said the $5-million craft had to get aloft to clear a concrete fence at the end of the runway. The plane did hit a wire fence just beyond the concrete barrier. Sections of the wire fence were enmeshed in the wreckage. The front section of the plane became enveloped in flames.

Snow Blamed For Series Of Area Crashes

4 District Persons Injured; 2 Drivers In One Wreck Hurt

Four area residents were injured in a series of highway mishaps on the heels of Thursday's snowstorm, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported today.

At least one person was treated at Alliance City Hospital this morning in an accident in the northwest section of the county, while East Palestine and Salineville district men and women suffered injuries in crashes yesterday.

Charles Merriman, 21, of Salineville R.D. 1 received a bruised arm when a car in which he was a passenger collided with a truck on Route 164 a mile south of Lisbon at 9:25 p. m.

He was in a 1959 sedan driven by Gary Stewart Merriman, 19, of Salineville R.D. who could not halt for a truck, driven by Mary Roberta Thirion, 39, of Lisbon R.D. 1, who was turning into a drive.

The car struck the truck after skidding. Officers cited Merriman for unsafe operation. Damage was moderate, the patrol said.

Time Set For Meeting On City Freeway Work

William McKenna, head of the State Highway Department Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, today set 1:30 p. m. Wednesday as the time for a City Hall conference on the timetable for construction of the West End-California Hollow Freeway.

The conference will bring together representatives of the Highway Department, the city, the Board of Education, the water department and the two contractors, Chapin & Chapin of Norwalk and Baker & Hickey of Columbus.

The meeting was set up principally to review the order in which various steps of construction will be undertaken. The meeting date was agreed upon previously and McKenna was asked to set the time. McKenna set the time in a letter received today by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

Youngest To Be Elected

Kennedy Takes Oath As President

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy became president today on a cold, windy but as brilliant a day as this capital has ever seen.

Around 12:30 p. m. Kennedy, 43, youngest elected president in this nation's history, took the oath of office from Chief Justice Earl Warren.

And as he looked out over Capitol Plaza a scene of dazzling beauty faced him, with a bright sun sparkling on dancing snow driven by a brisk wind.

The untiring Kennedy bounced out of bed this morning after only four hours of sleep and went to Mass at Holy Trinity church, where he has worshipped or the last eight years.

Despite the historic occasion, there was no sermon. Kennedy prayed silently, head bowed, while about half of the 400 parishioners received Holy Communion. He did not join them at the altar.

One element in that was the breakfast he ate before going to church. Catholics are directed to fast for at least three hours before receiving Communion.

Kennedy had a man-sized breakfast of orange juice, poached eggs on toast, bacon, and coffee with cream and sugar.

The bacon he ate on Friday—normally a meatless day—was allowed under a dispensation effective in the Washington diocese for inauguration day.

He smilingly assured reporters, already bunched from trying to keep up with the furious Kennedy pace, that he felt fine.

A presidential-sized storm which swept this city Thursday night, putting a chill on many of the preinaugural plans, obviously cut down crowds.

But Pennsylvania Avenue, that historic route of the presidents, had been swept clear so that the parade could go on.

There was one change in Kennedy's schedule.

He arranged to go to the White House at 10:30 a. m., 20 minutes

(Turn to OATH, Page 6)

Despite Cold, 8-Inch Snow

Spectators Turn Out Early To View Inaugural Parade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spectators lined Pennsylvania Avenue today, bundled up against the biting cold, to watch the inaugural parade for incoming President John F. Kennedy.

Twenty-degree cold and an 8-inch snow failed to dampen spirits as the early comers of an expected large throng gathered along the historic route and at the Capitol, scene of the swearing-in ceremony.

The 1½-mile parade route from the Capitol to the White House had been cleared, right down to the pavement, by an army of men and a huge array of equipment borrowed from the Army.

Democrats, celebrating their return to executive power in Washington, jubilantly decided against curtailing plans for the colorful parade of men and missiles, bands and beauties, and even a Navy PT boat.

Three thousand workmen worked all night in the cold and snow to clear the route. At least 550 snowplows, dump trucks and other removal equipment were mustered.

The parade roster included 32,000 people, nearly twice as many as four years ago. Half the participants were military. There were over 40 bands—and a seemingly endless procession of drill teams.

Guest Of Honor

Kennedy Attends Inaugural Revue

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy spent the first hour and a half of his inaugural day watching the last acts of a glossy revue staged in his honor by a huge cast of Hollywood and Broadway stars.

He appeared to be having the time of his life.

But when the massive show ended at 1:30 a. m.—90 minutes behind schedule—Kennedy struck a serious note.

"It is now inauguration day," he said, quietly. "I hope that all of you will join Lyndon B. Johnson and myself in committing us all to the defense of the Constitution of the United States."

The oath of office is the core of the ceremony scheduled to start at noon.

Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, and Vice President-elect and Mrs. Johnson drove to the National Guard Armory through a stinging, blinding snowstorm. It was one of the worst in Washington's history.

Traffic congealed. Thousands of formally dressed celebrants, stranded for lack of transportation to the armory, milled around in hotel lobbies.

The Kennedys reached the armory about a half hour after the show was scheduled to begin. But that was well before thousands of others in the audience reached there. Sir Laurence Olivier, one of the principals in the cast, was reported stranded at the British Embassy. Olivier finally made it. Eleanor Roosevelt, also scheduled to appear with the cast, didn't get to the scene at all.

Apparently in order to give other guests time to arrive, Kennedy and his wife waited in a reception room for an hour instead of going to their box. The show was timed to start a moment after he took his seat. It was an hour and 40 minutes late.

Dwork Says 2 Ohio Cities Could Be 2nd Donora, Pa.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Health Director Ralph E. Dwork has told the governor's cabinet that Cleveland and Youngstown steelmaking centers could become a second Donora, Pa., where air pollution was blamed as a contributing cause in many deaths.

But he amplified later that he didn't mean to imply that a new forced oxygen process used in steel-making would have anything to do with it.

"What I did say," he explained, "was that we could have Donora-like conditions in Cleveland and Youngstown and that there is a need for increased study of air pollution problems."

"There have been disasters, Donora being one of them, where as many as 30 deaths have been attributed to air pollution as a contributing cause. But the victims for the most part were older people with pre-existing lung conditions."

Dr. Dwork said the so-called forced oxygen process could create air pollution problems in Ohio.

He described the process as a means of producing better grade steel at a cheaper rate with less people.

The health director said steel firms claim they need a year's experience in using the new process to develop controls.

Whether they'll need a year or more to "tailor" the process, he said, he didn't know, "but it does need study."

Dwork said proposed use of the process has become an issue and that a lot of people not in the steel industry, and "who know nothing about it, are getting into the act."

He stressed that the Health Department is not investigating the process, although it did send a staff member into the Ohio steel-making centers at the request of the U.S. Public Health Service.

He said residents of the steel-making areas and their legislators queried the department as to what it was doing about the matter.

That's why he briefed members of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's cabinet Thursday on the situation, he said.

Kennedy

To the states emerging from colonial status, "our word that one form of colonial control shall not have passed merely to be replaced by a far more iron tyranny."

To these same states assurance that "we shall not always expect to find them supporting our every view," but a bit of advice too: "In the past, those who foolishly sought to find power by riding on the tiger's back inevitably ended up inside."

"To those peoples in the huts and villages of half the world struggling to break the bonds of mass misery... our best efforts to help them free themselves... not because the Communists are doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right. If the free society cannot help the many who are poor, it can never save the few who are rich."

"To the other American republics a special pledge—to convert our good words into good deeds in a new alliance for progress—to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty. But this peaceful revolution of hope cannot become the prey of hostile powers."

Kennedy added a particular pledge to the United Nations, "our last best hope in an age where the instruments of war have far outpaced the instruments of peace."

To the international organization whose halls resounded during the past year with denunciations shouted by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and lesser communists, the President said: "We renew our pledge of support, to prevent its becoming merely a forum for invective, to strengthen its shield of the new and the weak, and to enlarge the area to which its writ may run."

At length Kennedy addressed himself soberly to "those nations who make themselves our adversary."

"We offer not a pledge but a request—that both sides begin anew the quest for peace before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction."

"Let both sides join to invoke the wonders of science instead of its terrors. Together let us explore the stars, conquer the deserts, eradicate disease, tap the ocean depths and encourage the arts and commerce."

Kennedy said both the East and West are "overburdened by the cost of modern weapons, both rightly alarmed by the steady spread of the deadly atom, yet both racing to alter that uncertain balance of terror that stays the hand of mankind's final war."

He compressed his message to friends, adversaries and fellow-Americans into 1,348 words of prepared text, not much more than half the average length of previous inaugural addresses—2,499.

His plea to Americans to "ask what you can do for your country" came near the end. He coupled it with a plea to "my fellow citizens of the world—ask not what America will do for you, but what together we can do for the freedom of man."

Kennedy told his fellow citizens: "In your hands... more than in mine, will rest the final success or failure of our course..."

"The trumpet summons us again—not as a call to bear arms, but a call to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle... against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself."

"Can we forge against these enemies a grand and global alliance, North and South, East and West, that can assure a more fruitful life for all mankind? Will you join in that historic effort?"

He invited the whole world, as well as America, to "ask of us the same high standards of strength and sacrifice that we shall ask of you."

And he rested his plea: "With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking his blessing and his help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."

Six residents had petitioned to vacate the stretch and there was no opposition, Walter H. Hunsdon, president, said, so the board approved.

The commissioners will meet Monday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What do you recommend for "invisible mending" of clothes?

A. The commercial paste-on patches (sold by yard or package) are lifesavers for all sorts of cottons. You press them to the torn fabric with a hot iron, according to manufacturer's directions. Properly applied, these paste-ons withstand quite a few launderings.

Q. How can I remove fingermarks from my wallpaper?

A. Dampen the fingermarked area with some cold water, then dust on powdered pipe clay or fuller's earth. Remove with a soft brush.

Q. What is the easiest way to raise wooden roof shingles so I can repair or replace them?

A. Use the garden spade. The long, flat metal blade will let you get safely under the shingles. Press the handle down slowly.

Cleveland Attorney Charged

Confessed Killer Of Wife, Man Weeps In Remorse

CLEVELAND (AP)—John Max Ladutko Jr., 31-year-old attorney who police say has admitted killing his wife and an attorney he called her lover, wept in remorse Thursday.

"If she had only told me about him," the husky lawyer said. "I was out of my mind. I wish I could trade places with her. I wish it was I who was dead."

Police have charged Ladutko with first-degree murder in the shotgun slayings of his estranged wife, 29-year-old Nancy, and Charles D. Johnson, 42, partner in a prominent law firm. The slayings occurred Tuesday night at the apartment Ladutko shared with his wife until two weeks ago. She filed suit for divorce Jan. 4 and moved into the home of her mother.

Ladutko drove to Canton shortly after the slayings, then caught a bus to Pittsburgh and another to Washington. He ended a 38-hour flight Thursday morning by walking into the police prosecutor's office at central police station and surrendering.

Trustees, Clerks Seek Legislature Aid In Money Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Delegates to the Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks convention have money on their minds and they want the Ohio Legislature to help them get it.

Six of 14 legislative measures on the association's legislative program would give townships a more money than they are now getting. These include bills to:

Give the township a slice of the two-cent gasoline tax increase imposed in 1959.

Increase the townships' share of the motor vehicle license fund from 5 to 10 per cent.

Require municipalities levying income taxes against township residents to distribute 50 per cent of such taxes to affected townships.

Permit township trustees also to levy income taxes.

Among other legislative proposals are bills to:

Extend the present requirement that a majority of the resident freeholders in an area sought for annexation to a municipality sign petitions to include a requirement freeholders owning at least 50 per cent of the real property in the Gackowski and Larry Doran questioned Ladutko for more than three hours and say they took a long statement from him.

Ladutko told a newsman he saw Johnson and his wife, a librarian in Johnson's law firm of Baker, Hostetter & Patterson, kissing in a car as the other man brought his wife home on Jan. 2.

"If she had only told me about him," Ladutko said. "I would have told her if I had been interested in another woman."

Ladutko said he was in the bathroom when he saw Johnson and his wife coming into the apartment Tuesday night. Then, he went on, he saw the pair sitting on the sofa and that their attentions angered him.

"I was going to run out of the apartment," Ladutko continued. "She started to say something. Then I went crazy. I was out of my mind."

Ladutko was quoted as saying: "I got the shotgun from the corner (of the living room). I shot him. She stood up and I shot her. He started to run down the stairs and I swung the gun at him and it broke."

Then, for more than two hours, the stars followed each other on stage.

Frank Sinatra, co-producer of the show, quipped that "nobody in the cast is young enough to be in the new Cabinet."

There were singers Sinatra, Ethel Merman, Helen Traubel, Louis Prima, Ella Fitzgerald, Nat King Cole and Harry Belafonte. Between songs, comedians Joey Bishop, Alan King, Jimmy Durante, and Milton Berle held the stage. Gene Kelly and Juliet Prowse performed the main dance numbers.

The armory, with a capacity of 13,000, was about half filled when the show started. Democratic officials hoped nevertheless that tickets sold would bring an estimated $1.3 million toward defraying campaign expenses. Kennedy said the party had gone into debt $4 million to win the presidency.

Once the big show was under way, the howling storm and bitter cold outside were forgotten.

Bette Davis, Frederic March, Sidney Poitier, Anthony Quinn, and Olivier started it off. Each briefly recited some aspect of the world, the United States, and the presidency in the hour of Kennedy's coming to office.

Then, for more than two hours, the stars followed each other on stage.

Hancock Sheriff Names 4 Deputies

NEW CUMBERLAND — Four new men have been appointed to the previously undermanned staff of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny, following approval by Hancock County Commissioners.

The appointments boost the number of sheriff's deputies to 12, with one more to be named later to bring the staff to maximum strength.

New deputies include Robert W. Wilson and Irwin Higgs, both of Chester, Gerald Rainey of New Cumberland and George J. (Jesse) Angelo of Weirton.

Commissioners late last year decreased the number of deputies on the staff of former sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs by 5, resulting in 12-hour days for some. The staff was slashed because of a tight county budget.

The Best Of Everything

Our new President's eyes are blurred and his ears are limp from all the smiling faces and hearty congratulations he has seen and heard.

The presidential existence he has sought for himself and his family will become as hateful to him before it's over as it has become to all chief executives who served out their terms.

Sweet as are the fruits of public authority and eminent position, there is no forgiving the bitterness of political rancor, vicious criticism and the deep-grained Yankee instinct to tear down leadership. John Kennedy, however, has sought office, knowing what it would be like to hold office.

It is not sympathy he will need and certainly not sympathy he will want. There should be no dilution now of the contents of the cup that is running over for this personable young man. Having achieved what still is the great American ambition, he wants nothing but our best wishes.

He has them.

We — all of us — wish him the best of everything. In general, we wish him good health, good spirits and good luck.

In particular, we wish him the understanding and cooperation of all elements in this country that can make his life miserable and hurt America if they try to do it.

WE WISH HIM immunity from the kind of carping critics who, having nothing to offer that is constructive, make a career out of nagging at chief executives for imaginary shortcomings. We especially hope that pin-heads who nagged the aging Dwight Eisenhower for spending time on the golf course will find something better to do with their picaresqueness for the next four and perhaps eight years.

We hope President Kennedy may be the beneficiary in the White House of clearer understanding of the most muddled propositions in American government. This is not a democracy. It is a republic. Government was designed to operate here through representation, not pressure blocs, not mobs, not factions.

We hope Mr. Kennedy and his advisers will achieve the balance in government that his predecessor has said is the condition most to be desired. They are surrounded by pleaders of special causes capable of hurting the country in order to have their own way. We hope that all members of Congress may remember what the United States is and act accordingly. They are in Washington to vote for all of us, not minorities among us.

We hope the prevailing sense of the citizenry as it is relayed to Mr. Kennedy by his confidantes will convince him that Americans never were intended to live in fear, or to let terror dictate their opinions. Much too much has been made of the threat of Communism, to the extent that it has become more an excuse than a reason.

THE UNITED STATES must believe that difficult things are worth doing for the sake of the American people, not because failure to do them might bring cheer to Moscow. Mr. Kennedy has said he wants to revive the spirit of the American Frontier. We hope he had something more serious in mind than votes when he said so.

There was a spirit of the frontier. It built the republic. America never materialized until the country began to spread to the West, into new lands where people dreamed their own dreams and made their own way, free for a few generations of the ancient feuds and classical corruptions of Old World decadence.

There is room here — and opportunity and need — for men and women who want to rediscover the satisfaction of hard work, self-reliance and chance-taking. There is room for some of Teddy Roosevelt's rough riding and the Kennedy clan's touch-football.

Americans would like to honor the golden days of challenge and recapture the thrill of scoring over some adversity more challenging than a foul-up in bureaucracy.

Every new administration has something of challenge in it, something of opportunity, something of stimulation. This is the process of regenerating the spirit of America. It is one of the precious qualities of popular sovereignty.

Not everything about the regeneration is pretty. There are ugly episodes, especially in partisan politics. There are inequities and injustices. But the result is all that matters. It brings the nation a new President and a new Federal Administration.

Americans wish John F. Kennedy the best of everything, whether they voted for him, for Richard Nixon, for one of the minority candidates, or for no one at all.

Mr. Kennedy is where he wants to be, doing what he wants to do. The nation is lucky to have presidential aspirants of his caliber. Whichever man won in 1960 was a good bet to be a better than ordinary president. They were both outstanding candidates.

Americans Know About Liberating

Nikita Khrushchev, obligingly, has laid down the Communist Conspiracy line for all to see. The conspiracy will help all dissidents break away from established orders, unless the dissidents are trying to break away from Communist-dominated governments. It will be prepared to fight what are known as "brush-fire wars," in addition to its "wars of liberation." And it will be prepared to fight nuclear wars, too, though it will try to avoid them because too many people would be killed.

All things considered, the conspiracy would prefer to pursue its conspiratorial aims in an atmosphere of peace. But whenever subversion and plotting fail, it will use force. It also will use force whenever it is thwarted by non-Communist government—whatever degree of force may be necessary. This could be a little or a lot. In Korea, it was a lot. In Hungary, it was a little.

The essence of the Soviet premier's official statement, which has appeared in the magazine Kommunist, is that the Communist conspiracy will follow a line midway between Russian coexistence and Chinese belligerence. It will be ready to fight but not eager. It will be aggressive but not pugilistic. It will not assume at the outset that military destruction is inevitable, but neither will it assume that military action must be avoided at all costs.

THE IMPACT on the West will be like discovering that an intruder is on the premises and ready to wreak injury to anyone who gets in his way. But in truth this is no surprise. No one for years has thought of the Soviet Union in any other light than that of both a potential and actual intruder.

The Once Over

An imaginary letter from Walter O'Malley to Walter Alston, Dodger manager, assuring him once more that Leo Durocher, as a coach, should be a tranquilizing influence:

Dear Alston: Happy 1961 and many Durochers to you! This can be a year of surprises in big league baseball and you are entitled to your share. I understand you are uncomfortable with Leo breathing down your neck. This is hard to understand because he has become a humble, patient introvert, hating trouble. I have his word for it.

The picture of Leo as brassy and belligerent, always wanting to be top banana, is all wrong now. He has taken the Hollywood and Las Vegas Self-Importance cure and I don't have to tell you how those places shrink a man's vanity and make him mild and shy. You will never know him. He seldom raises his voice, hates friction and thinks baseball's slogan should be Gen. Grant's famous, "Let us have peace."

He really wanted a job with the YMCA, the Society For the Enforcement of Quiet Zones or the Little Ray of Sunshine Association. I was able to get him only on my promise I would never expect him to show aggressiveness or utter an explosive word.

(I tested him by having a voice yell, "Want a fight, ya bum?" and all he did was smile and say "Love conquers all.")

You will have no trouble with Durocher, unless you can't stand humility. I will swear this on a stack of cash registers.

The new Durocher is a second Dag Hammarskjöld, with a touch of Billy Graham and Little Lord Fauntleroy. He will be like a tranquilizer. If I am wrong sue me. As ever, Walter.

By H. I. Phillips

NEW BROADWAY PLAY "Rhinoceros" pictures modern man as having such a tough hide and being so stupid he could double for a rhino. It's done so well that it is convincing. We heard one cash customer remarking as he left the theater "A lot of prominent rhinoceroses are here tonight."

British vicar has come out for unionized clergy. Seems fair enough. Few jobs are more important and few pay less. We are for "This Parish Unfair." "Starvation Wages Mean Starved Shepherds" and "If You're Truly Religious You'll Give Your Minister a Break" banners.

Shades of Tex Rickard! "I never 'SEED' such a thing" he would exclaim if he could observe Madison Square Garden, for years the home of big fights, now rented to TELECAST championship bouts. Promoters of Patterson-Johansson fight have taken over the place and expect to pack the house. Largest crowd ever in Garden was 23,190 for Armstrong-Zivic bout in 1941. Through telecasts, all over land more than 60 million people will see coming battle.

An Oath-And A Prayer

What Will The Judgment Be?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Today was the day the presidency changed hands and Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years as chief executive moved into the history books, his job done and waiting to be judged. What will the judgment be?

No matter what, it will be long coming because of the nature of the times. What looked like minor actions may prove to have been great victories, what seemed like major successes may prove to have been the roots of disaster.

In the past week Eisenhower tried in several ways to give his own appraisal of his eight years in office. Yet all he said could be summed up in the words of his predecessor, President Truman, before he left office in 1953.

Truman then, looking back over his own record, recalled an inscription on an Arizona tombstone and said it was the greatest epitaph a man could have or hope for: "He done his damndest."

The two retiring presidents used similar language in summing up what they considered their main achievement: preventing another world war and stopping communism from overrunning the earth. Truman, just a few weeks before he turned the White House over to Eisenhower, pointed to a world globe which Eisenhower had sent him as a present in 1945 and said: "During these eight years, we've kept this old world out of disaster."

This week Eisenhower at his last presidential news conference pointed to his firmness in blocking Communist threats and gambits and picked out as a major accomplishment this: "We have actually stopped many of these risks (created by communism) from becoming realities."

Eisenhower called his big disappointment the failure to get to a place "where he could say it now looks as if permanent peace with justice is really in sight."

This, of course, was a major disappointment for Truman, too. He not only couldn't get close to peace but, at the moment of his retirement, was fighting the Korean War to keep the Red tide back. The two men's White House careers paralleled each other in several ways.

Truman had the daring and firmness to smash the Communist blockade of Berlin, to intervene to prevent the Russians from gobbling up Greece and Turkey, to go to war in Korea—all to stop communism in its tracks.

The most visibly bold action Eisenhower took was to send troops into Lebanon to stop the Reds from swarming over the Middle East. His firmness no doubt discouraged another Red blockade of Berlin, despite Russian threats.

It was Truman who set up the foreign aid program which Eisenhower continued. It was Truman who created foreign military alliances which Eisenhower not only adopted but expanded.

Yet, while Truman stopped communism, he could not control events at home. By the time he left office the country was split down the middle by McCarthyism, fear of Communists in government, dissension over the Korean War.

Eisenhower, a calmer and less cocky and belligerent man, managed to bring peace not only in Korea but at home, too, until, by the time he ran for his second term in 1956, McCarthyism was dead and dissension pretty much healed.

Perhaps Eisenhower's greatest contribution to the presidency —

although he didn't mention it — was as a kind of national pacifier and a bridge between two vital eras of American history.

By his own cheerfulness he was a force in keeping the country calm, or pretty much so, for eight years.

The Communist bloc has been building and hoarding its strength in recent years. It may be confident enough now to try new and far greater adventures than were possible eight years ago.

The great unknown factor in Eisenhower's stewardship is this: Did he do enough to keep abreast of the Russians in missiles and space. He thinks so. Only history and the years ahead will be able to say yes or no.

A Shot For Diplomacy

By David Barnett

The State Department is seeking $954,000 to ease the course of diplomacy with good food and drink during the next fiscal year.

The watered-down request for what the department calls "representation allowance" and some congressmen call "whisky money" will probably be "sweetened" considerably by the Kennedy administration.

For the current fiscal year, Congress provided $850,000 for the fund, used to reimburse foreign service officers for the expenses of entertaining in the interest of the United States.

The budget, submitted to Congress notes that the State Department will ask for an additional $26,000 for the current fiscal year to take care of unanticipated entertainment expenses in the newly emerging countries of Africa.

That will make the total for this year $876,000.

JOHN F. KENNEDY has expressed concern that the low level of such funds makes it impossible to appoint men of limited means to diplomatic posts requiring large expenditures.

He recently discussed the matter in Palm Beach with Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that handles the State Department fund requests.

Rep. Rooney has soberly promised only that he and his committee members will give the request a "fair hearing."

The Eisenhower administration made its major attempt to uncork additional representation funds four years ago. It asked for $1 million and sent the big wheels of the department to Capitol Hill to argue for the money. The secretary of state at that time, John Foster Dulles, told the subcommittee "it is on the social occasions that you make far more progress, as a rule, than merely handling formal notes and the like."

Deputy Undersecretary Loy W. Henderson said that entertainment "should be considered a major tool of our foreign policy."

The subcommittee still put the "wet" item through the wringer. Congressman Rooney privately informed State Department officials that he might be sympathetic to their position but the House would not vote any major increase in funds for whisky—the voters back home just wouldn't understand.

Since then, the department has tried to make progress gradually in the international cocktail circuit, by adopting a spirit of fraternity with Congress. Two years ago, the diplomats asked for $850,000, then cut the request to $830,000 and actually got $825,000. Last year, the request was for $875,000.

THIS YEAR again, the increase, of some $75,000, will be justified by the argument that more money must be poured out because of an increasing number of embassies and consulates.

The incoming administration is concerned with stepping up the allotment to such important and expensive diplomatic posts as Paris and London.

Actually, the bulk of the fund goes for food, not drink. Foreign service officers never give official cocktail parties, the functions are "afternoon receptions," at which soft drinks, tea and coffee as well as liquor are served.

A temperance movement within the service would not save substantial sums for the government. In some areas, soft drinks cost more than cocktails made with liquor purchased at diplomatic cut-rates.

Every night they would form a circle as big as the circle of light from one of these remarkable bulbs and stay there until dawn. It was the roughest weather the Twillery every registered for lamb birthing.

Everything about the birthing last year was unpleasant, and if it were to be as bad a few years running as it was in 1960 the Twillery flock would be abandoned. That would be ironic, because the wool business in the United States now is in the midst of a comeback.

Thanks to a costly advertising campaign, Americans are learning to believe "American Woolsens" are ultra-desirable. "English Woolsens" were made famous through advertising, but this country flubbed its chance to sell its own wool.

It has promoted everything that can be used for clothing, except homegrown wool. If someone came out with a new fiber manufactured by a process of boiling whole sheep and getting something almost as good as wool, there would be a market created for it by advertising. It was time American woolsens got a break.

But to get back to the lambs... Their mothers will look expectant about a month before it's time for them to be born. Then, one morning there will be a couple

Religious Issue Revived

By David Lawrence

Federal School Aid Program Debated

Nearly $10 billion dollars for education — for schools and colleges, for buildings, for teachers' salaries — that's what a task force has recommended to President-elect Kennedy as an over-all program to be carried out in the next five years.

This recommendation unwittingly raises certain aspects of the so-called religious issue that came up in the last presidential campaign.

Cardinal Spellman has been quick to protest publicly that Catholic schools must not be excluded from receiving federal funds.

For who is going to furnish all this money? The answer is: Taxpayers of every religious faith and of every race and color.

The use of federal funds to help build a school or to help poor students get an education or to help pay teachers' salaries is regarded today as constitutional but the civil rights commission, in its latest reports, recommends that "no federal agency or official shall be given power to direct, supervise or control the administration, curricula or personnel of an institution operated and maintained by a state or a political subdivision thereof."

If that's the case and the federal government is to furnish money without interfering with what is actually taught in the educational institutions of the country, then why should any private schools be discriminated against and deprived of public funds?

Cardinal Spellman says in a public statement: "It is unthinkable that any American child be denied the federal funds allotted to other children which are necessary for his mental development because his parents choose for him a God-centered education."

"To me, it is unthinkable that Congress would deny a child funds to study mathematics, science and languages simply because his parents supply addition funds for the study of religion. This would be penalizing both the child and his parents because of their religious beliefs."

"For many millions of American parents, this means that they will be taxed more than ever before for the education of their children but they cannot expect any return from their taxes unless they are willing to transfer their children to a public grade or high school."

THE CARDINAL goes on to say that he cannot believe Congress will "use economic compulsion to force parents to relinquish their right to have religion taught to their children."

He declares that any program of federal aid should grant "equal educational privileges regardless of the school they attend" and that the proposals of the task force "are blatantly discriminating" against church-related school children and their parents.

He says it would deprive them of "freedom of mind and freedom of religion guaranteed by our country's Constitution, whose first amendment was adopted to protect the individual person from government repression — the very danger implicit in the proposed program of the task force."

The Cardinal refers to the 6,800,000 children now in parochial and private schools and says that, if Congress adopts the program, it will be engaging in "thought control."

Now it so happens that, on the same day the Cardinal was speaking, the Board of Regents of New York State announced that it had recommended to Gov. Rockefeller a plan whereby $18,200,000 a year would be given by the state to private colleges and universities to help them expand.

To bypass constitutional difficulties about granting aid to private institutions which teach religious subjects, the plan would award $200 a year to each college student personally, as a sort of scholarship.

KENNEDY SAID during the last campaign: "federal aid should only go to public schools. The principle of church-state separation precludes aid to parochial schools and private schools enjoy the abundant resources of private enterprise."

Mr. Kennedy may not venture to back away from that position for fear of criticism but it raises a question of whether, if Mr. Nixon had been elected president, he might have urged the action that New York State now is considering.

The principle is just the same as that adopted by Congress in providing the funds for education to veterans of World War II and the Korean War under the "GI Bill of Rights." The grants are allotted to the individuals, and they pay the money directly to the school of their choice, which can be a public, a private or a church-related institution as long as it meets prescribed academic requirements.

Cardinal Spellman, in his speech, says that under a law passed in 1952 federal funds went to students who used them in 474 Protestant, 265 Catholic and 5 Jewish institutions of higher learning.

Also, he points out, under a 1956 law, Congress provides for direct grants to students whose fathers died as a result of the second World War or the Korean conflict and many now use the money to pay tuition in church-related colleges.

It makes one wonder whether a president who is not a Catholic is able to do more for the parents of Catholic pupils than Mr. Kennedy may wish to do. If so, the "religious issue" will have backfired in all directions.

With A Little Luck

By Truman Twill

There was this little girl the other day whose mother was asking about the lambs at the Twillery — when they would be born and all, and suddenly the calendar took on new meaning for both the little girl and me.

We have Groundhog Day, Valentine Day, the statesmen's birthdays and lambs in February. If all has gone well, we have lambs starting in February, that is.

Having lambs is like jumping off a moving freight train. No one can pinpoint anything. You get off along a stretch of scenery. You have lambs beginning sometime and going on indefinitely.

Last year all the lambs but the last one were born during the worst weather of the winter. They thought the world they had been born into was the color of an infrared lamp, because that was all they saw for the first month.

Every night they would form a circle as big as the circle of light from one of these remarkable bulbs and stay there until dawn. It was the roughest weather the Twillery every registered for lamb birthing.

Everything about the birthing last year was unpleasant, and if it were to be as bad a few years running as it was in 1960 the Twillery flock would be abandoned. That would be ironic, because the wool business in the United States now is in the midst of a comeback.

Thanks to a costly advertising campaign, Americans are learning to believe "American Woolsens" are ultra-desirable. "English Woolsens" were made famous through advertising, but this country flubbed its chance to sell its own wool.

It has promoted everything that can be used for clothing, except homegrown wool. If someone came out with a new fiber manufactured by a process of boiling whole sheep and getting something almost as good as wool, there would be a market created for it by advertising. It was time American woolsens got a break.

But to get back to the lambs... Their mothers will look expectant about a month before it's time for them to be born. Then, one morning there will be a couple of white strangers in the flock. That will be the warning.

From then on, nature will take the course that was laid out for it five months before. Some days there will be no lambs. Some days there will be so many maternity cases cooking that the job will be to keep the mothers from adopting the wrong children.

That is the trickiest thing about hit-and-miss lambing — to keep the mothers and their lambs from getting mixed up. The instant there is doubt there is trouble.

Doubt is common among young and skittish mothers. Old-timers can sort out a mess of lambs as if they were reading the right names off identification tags. But inexperienced mothers get panicky.

The sheep business in the United States will be under a handicap until someone gets rid of inexperienced mothers. It usually takes one birth to show them how to behave and handle their problems. A few know how the first time, and a few show no signs of learning — ever.

But, all things being equal and with a little luck when the die was cast five months before, the lambs will be born beginning the last week in February and ending later. It was June last year before the last one was born, though the rush season had ended in the middle of March. December romance, you might say.

Other Officers Returned

Charles Finley Elected Midland Chamber Head

Charles L. Finley, assistant cashier of the Midland First National Bank, was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon, succeeding Dr. Thomas S. Boyd.

Except for Dr. Boyd, who declined re-election because of his professional duties and activities, all other officers were retained by the 12 directors at the reorganization meeting at the Esquire Bar.

The directors were re-elected this week by ballots mailed the Chamber membership. All terms are for one year, effective Feb. 1.

Officers include William Robertson, vice president, and Paul McGeehan, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Finley, Dr. Boyd, Robertson, McGeehan, George M. Burrier, Mike Hornick, Donald Green, Anthony Martell, Wilbert Bassinger, Alfred Bahr, Thomas Fannin and David Schwerha.

Finley, 35, has been with the First National Bank since 1955 and before that was employed 3½ years at the Pittsburgh National Bank, formerly the People's First National Bank & Trust Co.

He has a bachelor of arts degree from Washington & Jefferson College, where he graduated in 1951 after majoring in economics. He served in the cadet program of the Air Force during 1944 and 1945.

A graduate of Midland Lincoln High School in 1943, he is formerly of Georgetown.

Plans for the annual dinner next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the St. Anthony Club were announced by David Schwerha, chairman. Officers and directors will be installed.

Frank Serna, head of the Rochester AAA, will provide entertainment and screen a new film on the national highway system.

The dinner will be a family style spaghetti and chicken. Reservations were to have been made by today by calling McGeehan at MI. 3-3282.

Parishioners Stunned, Pastor Admits Arson

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A Baptist minister stunned his parishioners Thursday by admitting, officers said, that he had burned down two of his churches. He said he didn't know why.

Officers booked on arson charges the Rev. Leonard Rhoads, 44, whose First Southern Baptist church in Palo Alto was destroyed by fire Dec. 13. Deputy Dist. Atty. Harry Parker said the minister also admitted burning down his church at Fontana Nov. 16, 1956.

C. L. FINLEY
Succeeds Dr. Thomas Boyd.

Dinner guests will be Burgess Eli Corak, Serna, the Rev. George H. Bohlender of the First Presbyterian Church and his wife and two members of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

Directors also discussed plans to publish notice that members will not contribute to any solicitations unless permission has been granted by the Chamber.

Rules concerning solicitations require that requests for approval be made on applications available from the Chamber secretary and returned to him a week prior to the meeting of the Board of Directors on the third Thursday of the month.

Dr. Boyd suggested the rules be put in the Chamber by-laws. Signs for 1961, saying solicitations by permission only, will be given member stores and firms.

Several bills were ordered paid, including $455 partial payment to Reno Electric Co. of Ambridge for installation of Christmas street decorations.

Salineville Auxiliary Police To Give Supper

SALINEVILLE — The newly-organized auxiliary police will sponsor a public spaghetti dinner Tuesday night from 5 to 7 at the Salineville High School cafeteria.

Plans for the dinner were completed at a meeting of the group Thursday night at the Village Hall at which purchase of uniforms was discussed. Proceeds from the dinner will be used for uniforms and other equipment needed by the group, Police Chief Cleo Melott said.

The members were officially sworn in by Mayor Kenneth Leishman. Arthur Wilson of Foundry Hill is the unit's director.

Wayne Grange To Hold Meeting On Thursday

LISBON — The meeting of the Wayne Township Grange has been reset for Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Grange Hall. It was scheduled for Jan. 12 but was postponed because of heating difficulties in the hall.

Lawrence Bush, lecturer, will present the program. The Juvenile Grange will meet at the same time with Betty Lou Rowley, master, presiding. Jimmy Ewing, lecturer, will be in charge of the juvenile program.

Food Storage Lease Signed

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday signed a new lease with Edith and Edward Heim of N. Market St. for a storage building for surplus foods.

The building is in the rear of 337½ E. Chestnut St. and is 30-x-30 feet square and was formerly used as a bus garage.

The board first contracted for use of the Heim Metals Co. building but Mr. and Mrs. Heim didn't sign and requested the other building be used.

The first contract called for $100 rent per month, plus utilities.

The commissioners will pay $75 rent for the other building and the electric bill, with the Heims paying for the heat, water and sewage, saving the county an estimated $300 annually.

A contract was signed with the Herron Trucking Co. of East Palestine to furnish a truck and driver for hauling surplus foods from Youngstown to the storage room and then to Salem, Wellsville and East Liverpool on distribution days at a cost of $6 per hour.

On the other contract, the Heims were to furnish the truck and driver at a rate of $5 per hour.

The warehouse for the surplus foods program in the county was at Columbiana.

Midland Rotary Plans Joint Event

Plans for an inter-club meeting Feb. 9 were discussed by Dr. Ralph Jewell at the meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday night at the New Riviera Restaurant.

Members of the New Brighton and Beaver clubs will be guests of the Midland group at the meeting in the First Presbyterian Church.

James Johnson of Pittsburgh, district governor, will be accompanied by 10 foreign exchange students attending Pittsburgh schools. Three of the students will present the program.

Richard Fitzgerald of Pittsburgh, a representative of the Elkay Co., showed a film and discussed the production of stainless steel sink bowls and tops.

Salvatore Ruggeri was program chairman. Donald Green, president, presided.

Palestine Meter Receipts Decline

EAST PALESTINE — Apparently part of the general business decline, parking meter receipts during 1960 dropped $1,292 under the 1959 total, Police Chief Carl R. Lotze said today in his annual report.

Receipts last year totaled $4,986, compared to $6,278 in 1959, Chief Lotze said.

The low month was December when receipts totaled $166. However, meters were covered in the last two weeks of the month as a courtesy to Christmas shoppers. The best month was August with receipts of $546, Chief Lotze said.

There were 1,044 arrests and citations, including parking meter violations, as compared to 2,350 in 1959. The main reason for the decrease was in the number of meter violations, he said.

Farm Bureau Study Urges Repairs For County Home

LISBON — A committee of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau Federation believes the County Home, which has been condemned by the state, can be repaired sufficiently to pass inspection. A bond issue may be necessary.

Some 40 members of the federation were told of an inspection group made at the home and the report at the meeting Wednesday night in the Farm Bureau office recommended a number of repairs and suggestions about the operation of the county facility for the aged. The state has given the county until April 15 to provide other housing for the residents.

The following report was given on the home:

"Newspaper reports in regards to the condition of the Columbiana County Home caused a lot of discussion among Farm Bureau members in the county, which prompted board members of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau Federation to tour the homestead to see the conditions and learn particulars first-hand.

"The tour took place Jan. 7, when 30 members met at the home. The overall condition of the buildings is good, considering their age. The quarters in use at present are very neat and clean. However, there was plenty of evidence of the need of repairs and from all indications some of these have been needed over a long period.

"After the tour and a study of the (state) order it was found that the sanitary facilities have been condemned. The heating or boiler room needs repair to make it more fire-proof. The kitchen no doubt would need some remodeling and possibly some new equipment. The buildings need some repair, which is normal for buildings when they are let go for a period of time.

Also a few other recommendations had not been complied with. The group feels that there was nothing in the public building order that could not be complied with in order for the home to pass inspection.

"The group also learned that products produced on the farm were to be used in the home but any surplus was not to leave the farm. We recommend that surplus foods such as milk, meat, potatoes and vegetable not needed at the home be made available and used at other county-owned institutions such as the County Jail and children's receiving home.

"Any surplus over and above these requirements to be sold with the money going towards the support of the home. We also recommend that the superintendent be given authority to clean up some of the out-buildings and to sell or dispose of some of the junk which he has not had the authority to get rid of in the past.

"We understand that the last Republican platform recommended that county commissioners appoint persons or committees to make a study and come up with an estimate of the cost of the needed repairs in order that the home might pass inspection.

"Therefore, we recommend that our county commissioners study the order or find out what is needed to correct the situation and then appoint a committee or committees, if they so desire, in making recommendations and securing bids to correct this situation.

"Since there have been no major repairs authorized by the commissioners for several years, repairs will not doubt take a special bond issue. However, we feel this will be a lot more economical than building a new home."

Also discussed were legislation, youth and women's committee meetings and plans for the coming year.

The legislative committee outlined zoning, strip mining and personal property tax; the advisors

Oath Taken By Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a brief preliminary to the main show of the presidential inauguration, Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas today takes the oath as vice president.

Johnson, who served five years as Senate majority leader, will take over the presiding officer's chair when the Senate meets later in the afternoon to discuss Cabinet appointments.

Rebel Ambush Kills 7

ALGIERS (AP)—Seven persons were killed Thursday night in a rebel ambush near Algiers.

Traffic

Both drivers were injured in a crash on Route 14 about a mile east of Route 7 yesterday afternoon about 3, the patrol said.

A car driven by Harold Fleeson, 45, of 343 E. Lyons St., East Palestine, was passing another vehicle when his car rammed an oncoming auto operated by Ralph M. Moore, 46, of Salem R.D. 1.

Fleeson, cited for driving left of center, suffered fractured ribs and abdominal injuries, while Moore received knee injuries. They were treated at Salem.

Ernest A. Schneider, 55, of Salineville was cited after a two-car collision on Route 39 east of Salineville near the village dump about 4:30 p.m.

The patrol said Schneider, following a truck, could not stop in time when the truck turned off the road, and skidded into the path of an approaching auto operated by Loretta Grimm, 33, of 1 North St., Salineville.

Mrs. Alice Roberts of Church St., passenger in the Grimm auto, suffered a bruised knee. Schneider was charged with speeding in excess of road conditions.

Ralph Hall, 68, of Columbiana was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after he drove his car onto a through road into the path of a milk truck yesterday morning east of Summitville.

The truck, operated by Edmund Morgan, 21, of Salineville R.D. 1, received moderate damage, but the car had extensive damage, the patrol said.

Charles Schmidt, 49, of Alliance escaped injury when his car skidded off Route 644 near Millport at 4:10, broke through guardrails and went down an embankment, causing heavy damage to the auto.

Icy Pavement Causes 2 Mishaps In City

Slippery streets were blamed for two spectacular traffic mishaps in East Liverpool Thursday afternoon and night — a Wellsville man's auto skidded into the path of a truck on the W. 8th St. "super-road" stretch and a Midland car went out of control in Klondyke, striking a utility pole before hitting another auto on a parking lot.

Homer Fleming, 33, of 370 Penn Ave., Midland, was treated at City Hospital for a possible fractured left wrist suffered in the Klondyke crash at 2:47 p.m.

Fleming's eastbound 1955 sedan skidded out of control on Harvey Ave., sideswiped a utility pole and then continued into the parking lot of the Louthan Manufacturing Co., hitting a 1954 sedan owned by Kathryn Prodonovich, 830 Mason St., officers said.

The mishap damaged the left side and radiator of the Midland man's auto and the right rear fender, tail light and bumper of the parked auto, police said. There also was apparent damage to the transmission of the Prodonovich car, officers reported.

A 1955 sedan operated by Homer Fleming, 20, of 1228 Commerce St., Wellsville, skidded into the path of a truck operated by Thomas Murphy, 38, of Akron, about 4:35 p.m. yesterday on W. 8th St. at Shadyside Ave., police reported.

Flanigan told police he was headed south on Shadyside Ave., but was unable to halt at the intersection because of slippery pavement. His auto went into the path of the north bound truck, owned by the Akron Parcel Delivery Service, officers said.

The mishap damaged the truck, left front fender, tail light and back-up light of Flanigan's car and a door and runningboard of the truck, officers reported.

6 Hurt At Youngstown In Crash Of Ambulance

YOUNGSTOWN — Four firemen and two women were injured Thursday night when a fire department ambulance and a car collided at the intersection of Market St. and Woodland Ave. in a crash which involved four other vehicles.

Dominic Lucarelli, 33, was driver of the ambulance which collided at the intersection with a car operated by Sam Byo, 57, of Struthers. The two vehicles, from which the two drivers were hurled, hit four other cars driven by Youngstown residents.

Lucarelli and three firemen in the ambulance and Mrs. Ella Burns, 53, of Youngstown, driver of another car and Mrs. Lillian Rushka, 53, of Lakewood, her passenger, were taken to hospitals.

Final $46,720 In Federal Aid Due On Sewer

East Liverpool's Interceptor sewer system passed a final engineering inspection Thursday, clearing the way for payment of a last installment of $46,720 within the next few weeks on a $234,820 federal grant authorized in 1957 to help finance the construction.

The approval was given in a personal inspection made by Robert Bolin of the Chicago office of the U. S. Public Health Service and Ben Ranson of the Ohio Department of Health.

They notified City Engineer George S. Bloomgren that a check for $23,360 will be turned over to the city within 2 or 3 weeks, representing half of the final installment.

Another check for $23,360 will be turned over when the final audit of the project is made, they added. Both payments will have been made within a month, they estimated.

Former Safety-Service Director William C. Heasley obtained the grant in 1957 from the Public Health Service, which administered funds set up by Congress to aid communities in constructing sewage treatment plants and sewer lines.

To date, over a period of 3½ years, the city has collected $188,100 of the grant. The final 2 payments totaling $46,720.45 will boost the total federal assistance to $234,820.45, Bloomgren pointed out.

The two officials concentrated their inspection on the Carpenters Run sewer, last segment of the interceptor system to be built. Other sections of the interceptor system, constructed earlier, already had passed the final engineering approval.

But the payments will not represent a "windfall" for the city in the sense they can be applied toward operating expenses. The funds will be used to retire notes that were issued to pay construction costs.

Oath

earlier than scheduled, to have coffee with President Eisenhower. The President telephoned and asked him to come early for the coffee before they started their ride to the inaugural ceremonies.

Earlier Kennedy took time out to study the reading copy of the inaugural address.

It's a simple oath that Kennedy took.

Standing bareheaded, he repeated after the chief justice: "I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of the President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Harried inaugural officials were hoping other events — the big parade down Pennsylvania Avenue, the huge inaugural ball tonight — would also go on as scheduled, especially since no more snow was forecast.

Plane

The Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Aviation Agency began on-the-scene investigations in an attempt to learn the cause of the crash.

The one person aboard who might have the answer is William B. Poe, 52, of Miami, Fla. check pilot aboard the plane. But Poe's condition early today at St. Joseph's Hospital in Queens was described as "still critical."

Noting that the plane took off in a blinding snowstorm with winds up to 25 miles per hour, Rep. Steven B. Derouanian, R-N.Y., said in a statement from Washington:

"Next week I will introduce some legislation to make it mandatory that no takeoff or landings of planes will be allowed unless visibility is 2.5 miles and the minimum ceiling is 2,500 feet."

Visibility at the time of the crash was a quarter of a mile, and the ceiling about 300 feet.

Derouanian is a member of the House subcommittee on transportation and aeronautics.

Police tentatively identified the bodies found in the wreckage as those of Capt. Ricardo Gonzales, the pilot; First Officer Antonio Ruiz Bravo; Second Officer Javier Alvarez Bacha; and Gloria Sanchez Herrejon, the pursa.

Weather

The snow caused some severe traffic jams about 5 p.m. yesterday in the homeward rush from stores, offices and factories. There were snarls in West End, the Lisbon St. Hill and the California Hollow section of Routes 7-30.

Two street department crews worked from 5 p.m. to midnight, spreading ashes and salt. One crew quit at midnight, but the other worked through the night, Supt. W. M. Laughlin reported.

Wellsville city crews applied ashes and salt, William S. Robinson, safety-service director, said and no major traffic snarls occurred.

Crews were busy today ashing hills in the Wellsville area. Hancock County's primary highways were in fairly good condition today, the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia State Road Commission reported.

Salt and ashes were applied during the night to Routes 30, 66 and 2 and all were plowed.

Secondary roads were slippery and snow-covered. The garage reported no major traffic snarls on the winding Chester Hill as two ash trucks remained on vigil.

Both Dam 7 at Midland and the Leetonia garage recorded a 3-inch fall. The storm ended a week or so of mild weather and the mercury fell to a frigid 10 degrees at the dam this morning. The downtown had 13 at 7 a.m.

There were colder spots in the county last night. Edwin Copeland reported 4 above at his weather station at Millport and Lisbon had 8.

Fredericktown had an unofficial zero.

Cunningham Whereabouts Still Unknown

Ira Cunningham, slated to begin serving a 1-5-year prison term for attempted bribery of a juror, following dismissal of an appeal, had not been located today by the Columbiana County sheriff's department.

The 54-year-old former policeman was to be taken into custody Thursday, but was not found at home and his wife reported she did not know where he had gone, other than to seek his attorney.

The Ohio Supreme Court, which earlier said dismissed his appeal on the 1959 conviction because proper fees and other requirements to perfect the appeal had not been filed, today reported a last-minute effort to file the fees had also been rejected because it was too late.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw today received a letter which reported Cunningham's counsel had tried to pay the $20 fee Wednesday at Columbus but had been turned down.

Cunningham was found guilty in 1959 of attempting to influence a drugstore clerk who had been called as a juror in a burglary trial for which the ex-officer was a co-defendant. The conviction was upheld by the 7th District Court of Appeals.

Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, his attorney, was in Washington for the inauguration of President Kennedy today.

Prosecutor Brokaw, who issued a capias Wednesday for arrest of Cunningham, granted him a day's delay to file a new action in the case. However, he could not be located yesterday when Sheriff Russell VanFossan came to East Liverpool for him.

New Method Removes 'Heat' From Peppers

CLEMSON, S. C. — The Clemson College chemistry department has discovered a quick way to cool off hot peppers. It's called Capsaicin and has possibilities in medicines and food seasoning.

A college spokesman said Capsaicin needs just 24 hours to take the "hot" out of hot peppers. Formerly, it took two weeks.

Parade

As for every inaugural parade, this one put its star attraction up front. Only the usual introductory array of police and marshals, backed by the Army Band and a battle group of infantrymen, preceded the presidential limousine.

Open sedans and limousines were lined up outside the Capitol to receive President and Mrs. Kennedy and Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson after lunch.

Spread around for miles, waiting to hear the cry of "forward march" at 1:30 p.m. EST, were an estimated 32,000 paraders, including nearly 16,000 from the armed forces; 40 marching units; 100 pieces of heavy equipment, from a PT-boat to ornate floats.

Costumes ranged from dress uniform to Hawaiian pa'u, a colorful garment that island women wrap around their skirts for horseback riding. Three lovelies from the islands wore them on the 50th state's float, which was fitted with a gadget to blow the scent of orchids over the crowds.

For a day on which mere men demanded overcoats, seven pretty young things perched among the palms and fruit trees of Florida's float.

While gaiety was the keynote, sobering reminders of the crises facing the new administration appeared at regular intervals—rockets, the nose cone recovered from Discoverer XIV, tanks and guns.

Snow And Ice Add To Woes In Rail Tieup

NEW YORK (AP)—The crippling railroad tieup tightened its grip on New York and New England today as snow, ice and bitter cold brought new hardship for the horde of commuters forced to use buses and private autos.

Emergency negotiations sponsored by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller recessed at 2 a.m. with no progress in efforts to settle the harbor strike that caused the ever-widening rail paralysis.

Rockefeller, who canceled plans to attend the Kennedy inauguration, invited the negotiators and federal mediators to meet with him later today.

The governor said the tieup was "getting close to catastrophic proportions."

He stepped into the picture Thursday, announcing round-the-clock efforts toward settlement would be made.

The 11-day-old strike has stranded 100,000 commuters, most of whom have been using other means of transportation between the city and their homes in the New York-New Jersey-Connecticut metropolitan area.

The strike has shut down most of the operations of the New York Central and New Haven railroads. Long-distance service has been canceled in addition to service for 40,000 commuters on the Central and 30,000 on the New Haven. Also hit are 30,000 New Jersey-Manhattan commuters who used railroad ferryboats.

Heavy economic losses are being suffered in the area.

Railroad workers are not on strike. The vast tieup spawned from a strike by 664 crewmen of tugboats and ferryboats of 11 railroads that operate in the harbor. They are members of three marine unions.

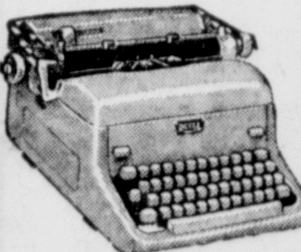

Employees of the New York Central and New Haven railroads have refused to cross the thin picket lines of the strikers. As the picketing spread the rail tieup grew.

A job security clause for a new contract is the principal issue in the dispute.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 10-15 degrees below normal. Normal high 35 north to 38 south, normal low 20-23. Cold throughout the period with only minor daily changes. Frequent periods of snow flurries or light snow north, snow flurries Saturday and light snow Tuesday south.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Future College Problems Discussed

According to a Roper survey in 1959, 70% of the parents of the United States want their children to go to college. If this dream came true, about 2-800,000 of the 4,000,000 children born last year would eventually go to college. In 1959, 36.2 per cent of the population of the United States, aged 18 through 21 Dr. Garry Meyers years, were enrolled in college, a total of about 3,000,000 students. (Some experts estimate the figure will be about 6,000,000 in 1970. Always there are more youths in the college freshman class than in each of the other three years, because of the later dropouts — from 40% to 60%. Even if none dropped out before graduation, there probably would be far fewer than 70% of the babies born last year in college when they reached 18 years of age.

WE HAVE NO accurate way of knowing how many children whose parents now wish them to go to college will eventually go and will graduate.

Many bright youths whose parents have college ambition for them will go, and a goodly number of the children whose parents now dream of college for them won't go.

Among the reasons will be lack of ability, low success at school, financial limitation and lack of ambition in the children themselves.

In one published study of high school seniors, about one-fifth of those in the top 10% in ability had no expectation of going to college.

If a child is a girl, her chances of going to college will be much less than if a boy. In 1959, women at college made up 36.1 per cent of the enrollment.

If you are wishing that your child, now in the crib, the first grade, fifth grade or high school, will go to college, what will be some of the factors controlling the fulfillment of this wish?

AMONG THEM will be the child's physical and mental health, his native mental ability, his stimulation from infancy and the amount of inspiration to go to college he will get from his parents, teachers and others.

Until he is old enough for school, good preparation would include healthy, wholesome discipline by parents who answer all his questions and stimulate his curiosity and eagerness to learn of the world about him and parents who read and read to him.

He needs parents and teachers in the elementary grades to find ways to help him become a good reader, the most important preparation for college and to cultivate good habits of mental work.

A very helpful book for parents is "Growing Up With Science" by Marianne Besser (McGraw-Hill).

Ferro Lists Drop In Sales, Earnings

Ferro Corp. sales and earnings figures for 1960, released today by Robert A. Weaver, chairman, showed a decrease in both areas but still gave the Cleveland firm its second best year.

Consolidated sales were $61,467,000, off 3.7 per cent from the $63,846,000 of a year ago. Consolidated net income was $2,556,000, down 23.3 per cent from the $3,331,000 record set in 1959. Resulting earnings, based on 816,057 common shares now outstanding, is $3.13 per share compared with $4.08 for last year on the same share basis.

Commenting on the prospects for 1961, Weaver said:

"Our domestic divisions continue to be adversely affected by the slump in the general economy, and our first-quarter results will compare unfavorably with the first quarter of 1959 which set an all-time record. However, our foreign operations may well surpass the record levels of earnings and dollar returns set in 1959 and 1960. The anticipated upturn in the domestic economy — for which we were never better equipped and organized—should provide a quick stimulus to our operations in this country."

Family Has Narrow Escape In Bed Fire

Awakened by the odor, his father went downstairs and dragged the mattress outside and police and firemen helped Mrs. Corbett get out.

Firemen said damage was confined to the mattress. An exhaust fan was set up to help air out the home.

Seventy-nine have been added to a list of nominees for 12 international offices for a primary election March 7, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

Publishing the second cumulative list of nominations made by local unions, the IBOP showed a total of 119, compared with the 40 named in the first list issued a

Brotherhood Creates Local At Indiana Plant

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters announced today it has established a new local union to represent employees of the Crown Pottery Co. in Evansville, Ind., a sanitary ware subsidiary of Alliance Ware, Inc.

Establishment of Local 314 followed an election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board in which the workers chose the IBOP as their bargaining agent, the union said. Alliance Ware has other plants in Somerset, Pa., and Kilgore, Tex., the IBOP said.

week ago. Locals throughout the trade are permitted to make nominations at their first January meetings, then submit the names to the international headquarters.

The nominees have 20 days in which to file acceptances with IBOP headquarters. In addition, 66 have been nominated for posts as delegates to the AFL-CIO convention.

The two candidates receiving the highest votes for each office in the primaries will run again in a general election May 2. Under a recent change in the constitution, terms will be for four years rather than two, as at present.

The new officers are expected to be installed at the international convention in mid-summer.

The latest list shows a total of nine nominees for president, headed by E. L. Wheatley, the incumbent.

The other nominees for president to date are: James Duffy of East Liverpool, a member of Local 31 in East Palestine and a former president; Frank Duffy of Local 31, Floyd Jividen of Local 130, E. C. Armstrong of Local 124 and Ernie Cross of Local 9, all in East Liverpool; Raymond Pinkerton of Local 44 in Sebring, W. E. Clawges of Local 45 in Trenton, N. Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Keeping Slim Seen True Test Of Dieting

Three sentences keep reappearing in letters from successful reducers. "I finally made up my mind to reduce....That's what did it!...I wouldn't go back to overeating again for anything on earth."

The last sentence brings us to the big problem keeping the pounds off. The real test of success for a reducer is whether or not the pattern helped the dieter holding the weight line.

Sharing is the very heart of this column. Will triumph reducers tell us — did reducing on the protective food pattern help you to re-train your eating habits and stay slim? You can really help reluctant dieters by confiding what it was that persuaded you to make a determined start.

IN BRIEF, what "did it?" And pass along any special tips that helped you stay on the slimming course. For example, one former overweight kept the scales in the kitchen. And finally share with us any measures which make weight control a natural.

All that being free of the burden of fat can mean is poignantly expressed in this letter...

"Being slim again is such a wonderful experience that I am most eager to share my joy with overweights. One spring, on the first day of April, I weighted in at 171 pounds. Six-and-a-half months later, I weighed 138 pounds, an average loss of 5 pounds per month. "I now wear size 16 dress instead of 20½, bulging at the seams. It's hard to remember the cream pie you turned down three months ago when you hear compliments on how much younger you look.

"It's exciting to be able to run up stairs without huffing and puffing and to accomplish with ease bending tasks that you have avoided for years. But the best part of all is the sense of well-being that you enjoy with the weight removed. There is pleasure in every motion after the burden of weight is lifted..."

Will the writer of this letter please report again. What do you weigh today?

Another triumphant dieter reported: "Thanks to your daily reminders, I have been able to keep my weight at its best level. I reduced because of a casual remark of my mother that I start shopping at a store specializing in large sizes. That was the jolt which prodded me into action. It is two years since I lost those 35 pounds."

NOW IT'S five years later...so will you please write in again. Keeping slim is the test. Will reducers please report the good, or bad news on that score.

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered. (c) King Features 1961

2 Youths Get Life Terms In Gun Slaying

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Two Toledo youths were sentenced to life imprisonment in a dramatic courtroom scene Thursday for the shotgun slaying of a Springfield Twp. tavern owner.

The youths—Charles Smith, 20, and Daniel Lathorn, 19 — had pleaded guilty to general homicide charges and had asked Judges John M. Kelly, Ray B. Watters and Frank H. Harvey to fix the degree of their guilt.

When sentence was pronounced — after two hours of deliberation — Lathorn's sister, Brenda, 18, cried out, "No! Danny I love you!"

She was led crying and screaming from the courtroom by her father as Lathorn stood white-faced and tense before the panel of judges.

Asked if he had anything to say before he was sentenced, Lathorn said, "Well, I have a lot to say but it wouldn't do any good so I don't have anything to say."

The sentence, following a recommendation of mercy, saved the pair from death in the electric chair under the first-degree murder verdict.

The victim, Albert Moore, 34, was slain in his tavern on South Canton Road Aug. 21 in a holdup attempt.

A third Toledo youth, Joseph McLeod, 21, also indicted for first-degree murder, is awaiting a jury trial. He is accused of driving the getaway car.

Smith was identified during the trial by two state's witnesses as the trigger man and Lathorn as his accomplice.

A motion for a new trial was overruled before Judge Kelly pronounced sentence.

Castro's Firing Squads Execute 2 More Cubans

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's firing squads executed two more Cubans today. His regime began dismantling some of its defenses after 20 hectic days of alert against the invasion that never came.

The two men were executed at Havana's La Cabaña prison. Their names were not announced immediately.

They and six others were sentenced to die Thursday after conviction on charges of terrorism and sabotage. The newspaper Revolution said the sentences of two of the men, convicted of killing militiamen, were reduced to 30 years imprisonment. Authorities were silent on the fate of the other four. Seven other defendants were given 30-year sentences.

The executions brought to 587 the unofficial total of those gunned down by Castro's firing squads since he took power in January 1959.

Castro scheduled a speech this afternoon to welcome home some of the civilian militiamen being demobilized as the government pulled in its anti-invasion horns. It was assumed he would repeat his claim of last week that only the 20-day alert and the arms given him by the Communist bloc prevented the invasion he had said the Eisenhower administration would order before it left office.

Castro's supporters kept up their jibes at the outgoing President. Foreign Minister Raul Roa said in a radio address Thursday night that only a few hours remained for "the most genuine representative of an arterio-sclerotic policy of power to abandon the White House and Wall Street." Santiago University students staged a funeral procession for the Eisenhower administration.

Safe Award Driver Fined After Crash At Salineville

A 34-year-old Massillon meat truck driver, awarded a safe driving bonus recently but arrested Wednesday for drunken driving, was sentenced to 15 days in jail and fined $100 at Lisbon Thursday.

Eugene Hoffner, whose Royal Brands, Inc. truck damaged a culvert in Salineville and snapped off a telephone pole along Route 644 north of Salineville, told County Judge James MacDonald yesterday he did not remember leaving Wellsville where he had been drinking with a friend.

Hoffner, given a safety award by his company last year, was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon Wednesday night. Earlier he had caused damage to a driveway culvert in Salineville, according to Police Chief Cleo Mellott.

Chief Mellott said Hoffner's rig was left of center and forced a brick truck off the roadway into a ditch. Then Hoffner's truck went into a ditch on Route 644 inside the village.

When Hoffner attempted to back out, the rig damaged the culvert at the home of Robert Whiteman. Chief Mellott was called to the scene, but Hoffner drove off toward Summitville.

The chief said he radioed an alert to Minerva police, believing Hoffner would drive through that town en route to Canton. However, the truck hit the telephone pole and the patrol sent two cruisers to the scene.

Future events, including a prayer observance were planned at a meeting of the Lutheran Women of the Ohio View Lutheran Church Tuesday night in the Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Homer Paul of Ohio View will be general chairman of the Christian World Mission committee, in charge of arrangements. She will be assisted by Mrs. Edwin Wallover and Mrs. Dora Williams, both of Midland.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. Frank B. Herz of Monaca, board member of parish education of the Lutheran Church of America and author of "Family Devotions."

Mrs. Steven Hazy will be lunch committee chairman. A free - will offering will be collected for the lunch.

Mrs. James Servey, program chairman, will present a skit, "With Tomorrow Yet to Come," with several members participating.

The second event will be the pastor's pre-Lenten retreat to be held in the church Feb. 14 at noon for all pastors in the West Conference. Holy Communion will be administered. The Christian Service committee will be in charge with Mrs. Charles Henderson chairman and Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Robert Cowan and Mrs. Laco Shreve assisting.

Mrs. John Madish, program chairman for March, announced that an eight-member cast of the Geneva Wesley Players will present a one-act play, "Christ In the Concrete City." Thomas P. Klough is director. Persons interested in attending may contact Mrs. Madish at NE. 4-8956.

Babin Appointed As Director Of Music Institute

CLEVELAND (AP) — When the Cleveland Institute of Music moves into its new $2 million building in University Circle next August, Victor Babin, concert pianist and composer, will become director.

Appointment of Babin was announced Thursday by William C. Truehaft, president of the board of trustees of the Cleveland Institute of Music, a 40-year-old school with an enrollment of about 1,500, including more than 100 graduate students. The school has a faculty of 67.

Babin, 52, a native of Moscow, came to this country in 1937, four years after his marriage to Vitya Vronsky, with whom he forms an internationally known two-piano team. Their home is in Santa Fe, N.M., and they have been on concert tour in California this month. Babin has had more than 50 compositions of serious music published and he and his wife have been making concert tours for 24 years. In the early 1950s he directed the Aspen (Colo.) Institute of Music's famed summer programs.

Examiner Attacks Receipts Handling As 'Deplorable'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An examiner's report terms "deplorable" the handling of receipts in the Bureau of Support of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction up to last June 10, but a department spokesman says corrective steps have since been taken.

The bureau is responsible for collection of bills for care of patients in Ohio's mental hospitals. It was revamped by order of Dr. Robert A. Haines, the director, last year.

An examiner's report Thursday to State Auditor James A. Rhodes told of receipts, including checks and money orders totaling $182,112, that had not been turned over to the treasurer for periods ranging from 30 days to 18 months.

Robert K. Dean, assistant director, said, however, that he was certain changes had been made since the period embraced by the report. In the revamping, Dr. Haines named Willard Cutler as supervisor, replacing Walter S. Burke.

The report to Rhodes said the condition constituted a "gross violation of laws covering the deposit of public money."

Five Are Indicted In Abortion Death

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Five persons, two of them college students have been indicted in connection with the abortion death of a 21-year-old Cabell County woman.

The Kanawha County Grand Jury Thursday returned indictments charging murder against: Ethel Davis, 41; Betty Burkes, 33, a West Virginia State College student; Riley Henderson, 26, of Huntington; a Marshall College student, and Sylvia C. Morrison, 21-year-old Huntington store clerk.

Indicted on a charge of being an accessory before the fact of murder was Lois J. Smith, 27, of Charleston.

The jury acted one day after Florence Harris, 21, of Huntington was pronounced dead on arrival at a Charleston hospital. Prosecutor Charles Walker said death came as a result of an attempted abortion performed Monday at the home of the Davis woman.

A record total of $2,035,020 was raised in the United Negro College Fund's 1960 campaign, with the largest percentage coming from individuals.

John N. Mostoller, minister of the First Christian Church, was a chairman of the drive in East Liverpool.

Caesar Peters of Harker Ave. served as co-chairman. The money is distributed among the private, accredited colleges and universities comprising the fund's membership and is used to provide scholarships, improve faculty salaries and expand educational programs.

Lou Grogg Retires At Crucible

Lou Grogg of Lisbon St., retiring after 39 years with the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, is shown receiving a gift radio at the farewell dinner party held in his honor Thursday afternoon at Deramo's Azure Room in Midland. Some 80 attended.

Officials of the production and planning departments at the ceremony were, left to right, John Scully, staff assistant; Elmer Gifford, head of inspection; James Mullen, representative of District 20 of United Steelworkers; Bert Moorehouse, a supervisor; William Mentzer, newly-named superintendent; Ralph Musuraca, chief supervisor, and Fred Snowden, melting master scheduler, making the presentation.

Others seated at the speakers' table were Charles Kogoy, president of the Clerical Workers' Union, and Robert Jones, supervisor of the melting department. Grogg, a master scheduler, also received a "stuffed" billfold and other gifts and cards from friends at the plant.

He served as first president of Clerical Worker Local 3177 of the United Steelworkers, which he organized with several others in 1942.

A graduate of Carnegie High School, he came to East Liverpool in 1920 and was employed first at the Homer Laughlin China Co., for some 18 years. In 1920, with the late William R. Scragg, he built and managed the Hopewell (Va.) China Co. He joined Crucible in 1921.

Along with Harold Barth and John Travis, he organized the Boosters' Club, which was responsible for many East Liverpool "firsts" in civic improvements, promoting the Lincoln Highway and the mechanized fire department.

As secretary of the building committee of the Elks Lodge, together with Scragg, they raised the funds to erect the present home on W. 5th St.

He is a member of the Trinity Presbyterian Church, assisted with the organization of the Amikita Club and taught its Sunday School class for many years.

Building is his hobby and he has constructed four homes on Lisbon St., the last a three-story structure in which he resides. He laid 14,000 bricks and completed all the work except the plastering.

He roller skates regularly and enjoys flower gardening — his back yard boasts of over 50 varieties of iris.

Snowden was master of ceremonies. Tributes were given by Mullen, who said the honored guest will receive a lifetime membership in the union; Musuraca, speaking for the plant, and Kogoy, for the clerical union.

Grogg spoke of the "farmhouse days" of Crucible and his early associates, Mrs. Gladys Ellwood, Scully and Moorehouse. His retirement plans include a trip to the Mardi Gras at New Orleans.

Fred Martell sang "Far Away Places," accompanied by Mrs. Jean Russell. For closing, Snowden read "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," with piano background by Mrs. Russell.

Pilot Gets Few Cuts And Bruises In Plane Crash

FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP) — A light plane, occupied only by the pilot, crashed in a wood near here Thursday night.

The pilot, Joseph Wolbert, 25, of Warren, Ohio, escaped with a few minor cuts and bruises. He climbed from the wreckage and walked a half mile to a farm house where he was given first aid.

The twin-engine, six-seat Bonanza—leased by the Knox Glass Co.—flew from New York City to the nearby Chess-Lamberton Airport where two Knox officials got off.

Wolbert then took off and headed for Youngstown, Ohio. He told newsmen that one of the engines began to "act up."

"The next thing I knew all I could see were trees coming up at me," he said.

The plane crashed into some trees in a wooded section near Polk, about eight miles south of Franklin.

Flattery Gets Pat Nowhere

A gal can't build a career on flattery, Patricia Barry has decided, and she has been worked on by experts. "You should see the marvelous letter I got from Sid Caesar. He went on and on about how he enjoyed working with me. Now if only the movie producers around here felt that way, too," says Patricia, who wants to make a movie so badly she could almost scream. The letter from Sid Caesar was the result of Sunday's "Theater," in which Patricia and the star, it's a comedy-fantasy with Sid as a devil on the prowl for a housewife who can cook.

Patricia constantly is being paged for roles as guest star, co-star in TV series and anthologies. She has made more than 100 such TV appearances in the past three years.

"I GUESS you might call me the queen of the guest stars," says Patricia. "I get a lot of juicy parts this way, but I'm afraid it's usually because the director is not sure just what type he wants."

The most prized note in Patricia's collection is from Alec Guinness. A season ago she played the wise little minx who watched Alec's every move in NBC's "Wicked Scheme of Jeeb Deeks."

"I only wish," wrote Alec to Patricia, "that I could have been better in my role for your sake."

There was more, and she has it memorized verbatim. Working with the great Guinness was a lesson in dramatics which Patricia says she never will forget.

SHE ALSO HOLDS the distinction of being the last actress to appear with the late Errol Flynn. It was a Theater telefilm titled "The Golden Shanty." Flynn was type-cast as the rogue who corrupted the formerly nice Patricia.

"On the set that first morning, the scene called for me to be dressed in a robe. Errol walked in, looked at me and said, 'Ah, what a vision you are in that soft-colored robe, and with that soft red hair and delicate white skin—why, I don't even mind that you are flat-chested.'"

"This completely broke up everyone on the set," Patricia recalls. "and shooting was postponed while the cameraman, director and everyone else launched into a debate about the dimensions of my chest, which I never bragged about."

"ERROL CERTAINLY had that charm I had heard about. You felt it as soon as he walked on the set. He was sick then, but no one would have known it. He died just two weeks later."

One of Patricia's most recent conquests is Bill Frawley. He joined the redhead's fan club when she appeared as the love interest for Fred MacMurray in the pilot episode of MacMurray's current

"My Three Sons" series in which Frawley plays Gramps.

He calls her frequently, and even goes over to the Barry household to watch Patricia's two young daughters put on a puppet show. (It happens to know that the grizzled Frawley has no interest in kids and even less in puppets.)

At this point in her career, Patricia White Barry (she's married to Philip Barry Jr.) is frustrated by the kind of adulation which usually winds up with the adulator crying out, "Where has this girl been?"

"BUT AFTER they find me, they worry about whether I will draw tickets at the box office, then wind up deciding to get 'someone with a name.' It's a bit discouraging."

She figures her own TV series would build the name she needs to get movie work, but she has turned down a total of 26 series. "It has to be the right series," says Patricia. "I want the right people directing, producing and writing it, and it must look as if it had longevity."

I know a fellow working on just such a series now. His tentative title for it is "Utopia."

The petition of the Georgetown Board of Education and acceptance of the board as a member of the Southern Beaver County Joint Board near Hookstown was approved by the Beaver County Board of Education Wednesday evening.

Georgetown is one of the few individual units in the county.

The Georgetown Board will become a member July 3.

Lester Rowley, board president, and J. Park McHaffie and H. Richard Trimble of the Georgetown board attended the special meeting Monday at the South Side High School near Hookstown when the jointure action was taken.

Georgetown will bring the number of individual boards of the jointure to six. Others are Hookstown, Greene Township, Shippingport, Hanover Township and Frankfort Springs Borough.

Georgetown, which is in the South Side Schools attendance area, has been sending its high school students to Midland where tuition rates were raised this year. Some eight rooms will be added to the South Side High School, planned by the county and state, to care for additional students.

Victor Thomas, supervising principal, was authorized to go to Harrisburg Wednesday to revise the room schedule for the addition to the high school. The revision will add one more room, bringing the total to nearly eight.

Harvey Todd, president, presided. Next regular meeting is Feb. 6.

The county board also hired on a day-to-day basis Dr. Lyman Samo, a psychologist, to help with a backlog of ability measurement tests in the county schools. Miss Hannah Parks is the regular school psychologist.

The board reported that it received from the state $26,250 for transportation and $118,101 for other expenses for handicapped classes. Some $27,724 was spent on such classes during December, leaving a balance of $20,095.

At Inauguration

Ohio Has Head Of Elite Army Unit For Big Parade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio supplied the leader of an elite Army battle group in today's inaugural parade for President John F. Kennedy.

Lt. Col. William C. Beachler of Piqua, Ohio, headed the 500-man group known as the Old Guard, oldest active infantry unit in the Army.

This group, marching in the Presidential Division and containing some 50 Ohio soldiers, traces its lineage back to the Continental Congress of 1784.

As it happens, one of its first major battles—in 1794—was the Battle of Fort Recovery in Ohio, which took place in the area of Beachler's home city of Piqua.

In another part of the parade line was the Ohio float. This featured a lake freighter model being towed by a model of a self-powered Ohio River boat.

The idea here was to stress the potential of the St. Lawrence Seaway to northern Ohio and of the Ohio River as a commercial waterway to the South and East.

On the back of the Ohio float was a schoolboy patrolman, illustrating the fact that Columbus, Ohio, originated this form of protection for school children from automobile traffic hazards.

Other Ohio contributions to the parade were the Steubenville High School Band, an 84-member organization directed by Anthony Viola, and an Ohio drill and drum corps, composed of 87 boys and girls from Toledo and Sandusky.

Leader of this corps, called the Marlinettes, is Frances White, 16, of Toledo.

There were special parties for Ohioans before, during and after the inauguration.

A breakfast for Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle was scheduled for this morning by Rep. T. Ludlow Ashley, D-Ohio, a fellow Toledoan of the governor.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, was holding a luncheon at the Occidental Restaurant on Pennsylvania Avenue. His guests planned to watch the parade from a restaurant balcony.

Then this afternoon, another reception was being held in honor of DiSalle, this one by Mayor Frank Celeste of Lakewood, Ohio.

Ohio Democrats, led by their chairman, William Coleman, also are having a party.

Most Republicans in the Ohio delegation—and they dominate it—weren't planning anything special.

But one of the new ones, Rep. Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin, put out word that his new offices in Sandusky will be inaugurated today with an all-day open house there.

"Our open house party is not intended as competition for Mr. Kennedy," Mosher assured his constituents. "We will only supplement and complement his show."

Ohio Township, Ohio View Scout Leaders Meet Jointly

The first combined meeting of the Girl Scout Neighborhoods of Ohio Township and Ohio View was held Wednesday morning in the Ohio Township Building.

Meetings of the combined groups will alternate between each area until a common meeting place has been arranged. The next is March 15 at Ohio View.

Mrs. Richard Graham, neighborhood chairman, presided. It was announced that Mrs. George Knox will serve as chairman of the Juliette Lowe tea with date and place to be announced.

Mrs. George Mastrovich, district chairman, reported on her trip to the Girl Scout convention at St. Louis in November.

Deadline will be Feb. 15 for the contest to decide a name for a camp at Fomble.

A contest is also being conducted by leaders to select a name for the combined neighborhoods. The district committee will serve as judges.

Leaders were reported working on plans for heritage hikes and are seeking places with historic interests. The Christmas ribbon and calendar sale was successful.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I have been married 15 years. We have five children. The oldest is 14, the youngest 6. They are in school all day and are no trouble to her.

I think my wife should be able to get out of bed a little earlier, straighten the house, get the kids off to school and then go to work downtown. We could sure use the extra money. We have many friends who manage this way and they have new cars, boats and luxuries that we'll never be able to afford on my salary.

My wife has a washing machine and a vacuum cleaner, still she claims she's bushed from housework and laundry. I say the cost of living is so high these days it takes two pay checks if people are going to enjoy any extras. Please tell my wife to stop making excuses and to go get herself some work.—DIGUSTED.

Dear Disgusted: A woman who has five young children doesn't need to make excuses — she's got work, and plenty of it — at home.

So your wife has a washing machine and a vacuum sweeper — big deal. How would YOU like to take on another full-time job? Well, that's exactly what you're asking her to do. Quit trying to get the old mare to pull a double load and give her a hand with her present duties. She probably can use it.

Day Of Reckoning
Dear Ann: I'm 18 years old and

Naval Architect Dies

BATH, Maine (AP)—Archibald M. Main, 90, dean of American naval architects and designer of the last ocean-going presidential yacht, died Wednesday.

I've been going steady with a girl who will be 17 next month. She's been nagging me to get married but I feel I'm too young to take on the responsibilities of a husband.

I have another four months before high school graduation and it would be a crime to quit now to get married. Some guys in school got married but the heat was too much and they dropped out.

This girl's parents are getting pretty huffy because of the girl's condition — if you know what I mean. My folks say it's up to me. Please tell me — what's the score? — DICK.

Dear Dick: Yeah — I know exactly what you mean — and this is a fine time to be asking the score. —

No fellow can be forced into a marriage regardless of the circumstances. You have an obligation, however, to take care of the girl and support the baby and there are laws to see that you do.

I urge you to stay in school and get your diploma whether you marry or not. It looks as if you're going to have some financial responsibilities starting soon and a fellow who is not a high school graduate will find mighty slim pickings in the job market.

To Recess Hearing

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Judge W. W. Badger of Holmes County will recess the county commissioner contest vote fraud hearing today until Jan. 30 because he must return to his own county to hear cases next week. As much as a full week of testimony may remain in the suit here which Joseph Baldine, Hubbard Democrat, has filed. Baldine, who lost by 29 votes to Dr. W. A. James, Republican incumbent, has alleged fraud in the absentee balloting in which James led by a wide margin.

DON'T GAMBLE WITH A COLD

The best thing to do for a cold is to take care of it. Prompt treatment with approved home remedies often lessens the misery and shortens the duration of a cold. If a cold "hangs on" or is accompanied by fever, call your doctor. One thing never to do about a cold is to gamble it will cure itself. This could be a losing proposition.

New Champ In Pennsylvania . . .

It appears the "king" of Pennsylvania basketball is dead, at least for this season.

A look at the Section 3 WPIAL standings shows Farrell in fourth place, an unfamiliar spot for the Steelers who have ruled basketball in the Keystone state under Eddie McCluskey.

Farrell got into its present situation by suffering a loss to Aliquippa and then last Tuesday dropping a 67-60 decision at Ambridge. Sharon is on top of the heap with a 4-0 record.

A former East Liverpool basketball star, "Shot" Bennett, can take some credit for the Sharon team. "Shot" is the assistant basketball coach there.

Pennsylvania is almost assured of a new champion. Only the winner of the section races continue on to tournament play and unless there is a sudden change of events Farrell isn't going to make it this season.

Pop Shots From Here And There . . .

A TOTAL of 135,756 fans saw Massillon, the 1960 Ohio scholastic champs, play last season, according to Nick Coso, an assistant coach for the Tigers, who compiles the information annually. Average attendance for each Massillon home and away game was 12,342. East Liverpool and Massillon drew 11,627. . . ONE of the nice guys of coaching and a newcomer to the area is Harry Diehl, coach of the high-flying Stanton Local club. . . THE annual Cleveland Indians press luncheon is set for Feb. 9 at Youngstown, when Jimmy Dykes will be on hand to discuss the 1961 outlook. . . LARRY KESSLER of Salineville, who quarterbacked Mt. Union College this past season, was presented his first varsity football letter at the Alliance school. . . WE HOPE the National professional football hall of fame is established at Canton. After all it was the birth place of pro football. . . ONE of the smallest cagers performing in the Mid-American Conference is Bob Dawson, the ex-Potter star. After a bout with the flu, Bob is back in Bowling Green's starting lineup. We had to chuckle when we looked over the Bowling Green statistics. Here's the pint-sized Dawson down as the leading rebounder with 11 against the "giants" from DePaul. . . CAPTAIN Larry Siegfried of Ohio State has shot 25 consecutive free throws and will attempt to keep his string going Saturday night when the Buckeyes seek their 13th straight gainst Minnesota. . . BUD MANES, head basketball coach at Thiel College by way of East Liverpool is having his troubles in his first season. The Tomcats are still looking for their first win after eight setbacks.

Venditti Applies At Lincoln . . .

POTTER COACH Lou Venditti was in Canton Thursday where he was interviewed for the football job at Canton Lincoln High School.

Venditti also had applied for the Canton McKinley job, which was filled last week with the naming of Pete Ankney of Kettering-Fairmont.

At least 30 have applied for the Lincoln post, which became vacant when Art Pardee resigned after two losing seasons.

Predictions Hit Rock Bottom . . .

THE BUSINESS of predicting basketball hit rock bottom for us last Tuesday. We were lucky to pick one winner. The chart was horrible and it marked the first time that we ever fell under the .500 mark.

We blamed it on our new system, with which there is no guarantee. You can't win them all, someone once said, but we're hoping for a break this week.

Here's what we like in tonight's 12-game schedule: East Liverpool 66, Steubenville Central 50; Stan-

Dave Chetwynd's 15 points and a 13-point performance by Ron Roush paced the Wildcats.

Potters Will Host Central; 12 Contests Scheduled

Will East Liverpool protect its five-game win streak at home? Can Stanton Local keep rolling? Will Midland remain undefeated in Section 8 play?

The answers to these questions will be known later tonight as a 12-game schedule unfolds across the district's hardwoods.

Steubenville Central, with a 5-4 record, pulls into Memorial Auditorium tonight. East Liverpool is coming off a road trip which saw the Potters split in two games, leaving the Blue and White with a 6-2 record.

East Liverpool defeated Toronto, 64-47, then lost at Ashland, 80-60. Toronto is the same team which knocked off Steubenville Central in an overtime battle earlier this week.

The reserve teams from both schools are billed in a preliminary beginning at 7. The varsity tilt will get under way at 8:30.

Coach Jim Harris figured on starting the same lineup used in the past six games, but on Wednesday Perry Hurst, a sparkplug in the Potter offense, sprained his ankle in practice. If Hurst can't play tonight, Jack Desher will get the call.

The remainder of the lineup is the same with Kenny Cunningham, Mike Geon, Ken Miller and Tom Clark.

Central and East Liverpool will be about the same in height, with the Crusaders having a slight edge. Tom Eroshovich is Steubenville's big threat, averaging 18 points per game.

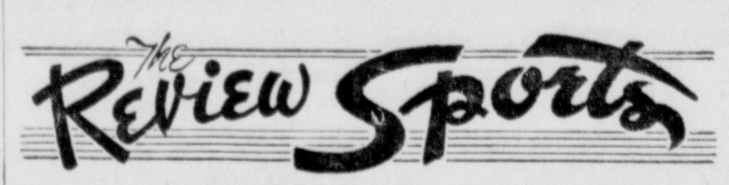

At Irondale tonight, Stanton Local, in order to keep its unbeaten string in tact, must step out of its class. Stanton, one of the few unbeaten "A" clubs in Ohio, will battle Jefferson Union, a Class "A" opponent.

Two factors favor Stanton. First, the Irons are playing on their own floor. Second, they already have beaten tonight's foes on the JU floor to the tune of 83-49.

Followers of the Red and Black agree Stanton turned in its best effort of the season in the last meeting with Jefferson Union.

Rochester invades Midland in another Section 8 contest. Midland is in first place with four straight victories, while the Rochester five has compiled only one victory in four starts.

The Leopards aren't expected to have much trouble with the Rams. Midland has rolled over Freedom, New Brighton, Beaver and Hopewell. A game with Monaca next Tuesday night will end the first round of action in Section 8.

Two Hancock County foes hook up in a return match. Chester visits New Cumberland and will be seeking revenge from an earlier 53-34 setback.

Waterloo Wonders Are Back, But In Book Form This Time

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The fabulous Waterloo Wonders, who stormed out of the Lawrence County hills a quarter-century ago to win a pair of Ohio high school Class B basketball championships, are back again—in book form.

Dick Burdette, former newspaperman and now a graduate student at Ohio University, is author of the interesting, factual account of the kids who climbed to the cage throne in 1934 and 1935. The book is to be released Saturday.

It details how Coach Magellan Hairston led his boys, with the aid of the most unorthodox offense ever put together, to a 29-0 record in 1935, and a 52-3 mark against the best in the country the following year.

Burdette tells how the Wonders would dribble the length of the floor, then hand the ball to a befuddled foe; sink a basket now and then for the enemy; dropkick or bounce the ball through the hoop; send a couple of players to the bench while the other three still outscored and out-faxed the opposition; or how a couple of the kids would play marbles in the center circle as the cage game went on around them.

For those who have forgotten the players were Beryl Drummond, Orlyn and Wyman Roberts, Stewart Wiseman and Curtis McMahon. None was six feet tall.

Another return engagement is on the schedule when Coach John Robinson sends his Newell Vikings against Beaver Local on the Williamsport floor.

Newell, after winning seven straight, has dropped its last two starts to Weirton Madonna and Stanton Local. In the first meeting this season, Newell toppled Beaver Local, 72-58.

Another one of the district's winning clubs is Fairfield-Waterford, which has been beaten only once in 10 games. The Rebels take their handsome record to Lowellville.

Salineville, which has come to life in the last two weeks, will attempt to make it three straight when the Indians entertain United.

Salem has the second longest victory streak going. It has reached seven and the Quakers have their eye on No. 8 when Niles comes to town.

Minerva shouldn't have any trouble stretching its long string of victories in Tri-County play at Lisbon. Minerva has won 33 straight league contests.

Sebring visits East Palestine and Leetonia goes to Columbiana in two other Tri-County tilts. South Side is still looking for its second victory and travels to Burgettstown.

Six games Saturday include four in the Tri-County League. The independent contests find Chester at Benwood Union and Beaver Local going to Hanoverton for an engagement with United.

In the Tri-County action, Minerva is at East Palestine, Sebring hosts Lisbon, Louisville goes to Leetonia and Columbiana visits Poland.

Holds Stroke Edge In First Round Firing

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Husky Bob Goalby swung into today's second round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament with a one-stroke lead and a string of six straight sub-par holes.

The 29-year-old former University of Illinois football player fired five birdies and an eagle as the windup to his first round.

That brought him the lead with a six-under-par 66. Right behind him at 67 were defending champion Ken Venturi, Howie Johnson, Dave Hill and Bill Collins.

Deadlocked at 68 were Jack Burke, Jerry Barber, Dave Ragan, and at 69 were Dick Stranahan, Sam Reynolds, Dow Finsterwald, Lionel Hebert, Al Balding, Walter Burkemo, Ted Kroll and Bob Rosburg.

Warm, sunny, windless weather provided the chance for low scores and no less than 39 fired sub-par first rounds.

Goalby, one-over-par through the first 12 holes, said, "I was just trying to shoot 70. I figured that was about the best I could do."

Playing the Monterey Peninsula course, he had missed the greens at the fourth, seventh, and tenth holes.

Leading in the pro-am after the first round were two teams with best-ball scores of 60 — Dow Finsterwald and Fred Kammer of Groose Point Farms, Mich., and Jack Burke with George Coleman Jr., of Palm Beach, Fla. The amateur's handicaps are figured in the pro-amateur scoring.

Venturi, of Palo Alto, Calif., and Collins, who plays out of Crystal River, Fla., shot their opening 67s at Pebble Beach, generally considered the toughest of the three layouts. Hill, former Michigan amateur star now a pro living in Denver, played Monterey Peninsula while Johnson, of Coghill, Ill., shot at Cypress Point.

Arnold Palmer, golfer-of-the-year in 1960 and winner of last week's San Diego Open, kept in contention with a first-round 70.

Curran's 26, First National 15

Dawson's eked out a 22-19 win over Ogilvie's to preserve its unbeaten string while Curran's turned back First National Bank, 26-15.

In two other games, Coca-Cola lost a heartbreaker to Potters Bank, 24-23, and Hune Co. hit a new high for the season with a 43-15 triumph over McNutt's.

Dan Roach popped in eight points for Dawson's while Scott was high with six for Ogilvie's.

Bill Carter and Jimmy Jones tossed in 10 points each to lead Curran's attack. Cunningham topped the losers with five.

Three Hune starters hit in the double figures to lead the overwhelming victory. John Higgins fired in 14, Tim Grafton 11 and Rick Calhoun, one of the smallest players in the loop, scored 10.

Coca-Cola dropped its fourth straight despite a 13-point performance.

Phila. Still In NBA Race, Johnston Says

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Neil Johnston today took stock of the National Basketball Association race and his own Philadelphia Warriors club which is in second place in the Eastern Division, three games behind Boston.

"I think we're very much in the thick of the race," said Johnston after the Warriors had defeated Western Division leader St. Louis 129-127 on a field goal and a free throw by Wilt Chamberlain with 46 seconds remaining. Chamberlain was high for the Warriors with 39 points but Bob Pettit of the Hawks took game honors with 42.

"I don't think Boston has an insurmountable lead," the Warriors' coach said.

Boston, in the first game of the Convention Hall doubleheader, maintained its lead by beating the Los Angeles Lakers 106-103 with the clincher coming on Tom Heinsohn's field goal with 1:06 remaining after the Celtics had blown a 15-point lead. Heinsohn and Bob Cousy shared scoring honors for the Celtics with 22 points each. Elgin Baylor was high for the Lakers with 29.

In the only other NBA game action Thursday night, New York handed Cincinnati its seventh loss in the last eight games, 129-122, and dropped the Royals into third place in the Western Division. The Royals were without high scorer Oscar Robertson, sidelined with a hip injury.

Lowly Bruins Nip Detroit Club, 4-2

BOSTON (AP)—The last-place Boston Bruins, winless in six previous outings, were strangely unimpressed by their 4-2 decision over Detroit.

Leo Labine and Doug Mohns held a technical discussion in the dressing room on who was out of position on a particular play. Jerry Toppazzini sat on a table while a trainer looked at some bumps and bruises. Others dressed quietly and left quickly.

"Yes, it's nice to win one for a change," Coach Milt Schmidt admitted. "Now it's a question of putting two of them together."

Boston's first home victory since New Year's night — only their ninth of the season — was the only NHL action Thursday night. The Bruins, start a three-game road trip in Toronto Saturday. Other Saturday games pit Detroit at Montreal and New York at Chicago.

Wittenberg Drops 46-45 Contest To Dayton Five

By The Associated Press
Wittenberg has the best defensive record of any college basketball team in the nation. The Tigers, with their control ball play, have allowed their opponents an average of only 47 points a game.

This has worked out fine in the Ohio Conference where Wittenberg leads the loop with a 6-0 record.

And Thursday night, in a non-conference fray, the Tigers again held their opponent to under 47 points. They even outscored Dayton's Flyers 19 field goals to 14.

Only trouble was—they lost, 46-45.

Well, it seems the control-ball Tigers couldn't get control of the ball enough times to suit them. This is not to say they didn't try. They tried so hard, in fact, they committed 20 personal fouls. This gave the Flyers 32 shots from the foul line and they converted on 18 of them.

And this was the difference. Wittenberg got only 15 shots from the charity line and made just seven.

The Tigers were so anxious to get that ball they fouled Dayton's Phil Dubensky three times in the last few minutes of the game. The first time, Dubensky hit the hoop and put Dayton ahead for good, 42-41.

Fouled again, Dubensky made the 1-and-1 and the Flyers took a 44-41 edge.

Don Wolfe, Wittenberg's high scorer with 14 points, hit a field goal to narrow the gap to 44-43. Then came another foul against Dubensky—the Flyers' top man with 16 points—and again he made both charity tosses to give Dayton a 46-43 lead.

Dubensky, incidentally, played all but the first minute of the second half with four personal fouls against him.

In the only other game on the Ohio college cage scene, it was something of the same story. Wooster's Scots were out-gunned 33-32 by Bluffton but rang up 19 of 28 from the free throw line to the Beavers' 7 of 11. The Scots, tied 34-34 at intermission, fell behind early in the second half, pulled even at 65-65 and broke away in the last 6½ minutes to register their eighth victory in 10 starts, 83-73.

Robinson-Fullmer Bout Due Feb. 25 Reslated March 4

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who has a long record of title fight postponements, is getting another one.

Robinson's 15-round bout here with NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, scheduled for Feb. 25, was re-set Thursday for March 4.

Promoters Jack Doyle and Mel Greb said Robinson was unable to get started with his training because of two court actions in the East.

In recent weeks Robinson has been involved in a paternity suit brought by a New York woman. Thursday he won a federal court decision over Nicholas Troilo, who sued Sugar Ray for $75,000, charging he reneged on an agreement to fight Fullmer in 1956 under Troilo's promotion.

Robinson is scheduled to fly from New York to Los Angeles Saturday, then go to his training camp at San Jacinto, where he worked for his Dec. 3 bout with Fullmer. That one ended in a draw.

Wildcats, MSU In TV Battle

By The Associated Press
Northwestern and Michigan State, struggling in the Big Ten's second division, will be served on Saturday's regional basketball television fare.

Main interest, as far as the championship race is concerned, will be Iowa's test at Purdue, Minnesota (1-2) is at Ohio State (2-0) in the only other conference game.

Iowa, ranked No. 4 in the Associated Press national poll, has been beaten only once all season and has a 4-0 mark in the Big Ten.

Two of its players are among the top ten league scorers—Don Nelson with an 18 point average and Frank Allen with 16.5.

Purdue also is undefeated in the triumph. The Boilermakers' Terry Dischinger leads conference scorers with 35 points a game. He has a gashed middle finger on his right hand from a chemistry lab mishap and his scoring touch may suffer.

Northwestern takes a 0-3 mark to Michigan State, 1-3, for the afternoon TV encounter. The Spartans will have three rookies on the front line, led by 6-7 Ted Williams and Dick Hall. Ralph Wells, a junior, is Northwestern's top scorer with a 14 average.

First-ranked Ohio State, the only major unbeaten team of the season, will be heavily favored over Minnesota. Jerry Lucas, the Buckeyes' All-America, is second in league sharpshooting with a 32.3 in two games. He has a bad ankle, but may be used full time if needed. Teammate Larry Siegfried also is among the top ten with 16 points a game.

Heading the Gophers are Dick Erickson with 10.6 and Bob Griggs with 10.3.

Law In Fold At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today Vernon Law, the winner of the Cy Young award last year, has signed a contract for the coming season.

The big righthander won 20 games for the world champions in 1960 while losing nine. He had a 3.08 earned run average.

Law also won two games in the World Series and started the second All-Star game, receiving credit for the victory.

It was Law who stopped both of Pirates' longest losing streaks — both at four games — with victories over Los Angeles.

Law beat every team in the National League last year with the exception of Milwaukee. He defeated the Dodgers and Cardinals five times each.

He also completed 18 games, tying the league's high for the season with two other pitchers.

Coach Reviews Cage Program At Kiwanis Luncheon

East Liverpool High School's basketball program was reviewed by Jim Harris, varsity coach, and Frank Chan, assistant, at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

About 44 attended the meeting at which Harris spoke on his coaching methods, experiences and the program's help for boys. Chan spoke on the reserve basketball team.

The two coaches were introduced by Merrill Hall, athletic director, who was program chairman.

A history of Kiwanis will be presented by Russ Heddlston at the next meeting Thursday when William Porter, past president, will describe the activities of the past year.

challenge of an opponent's election as Montgomery County com-

Schell, a Democrat, contends that the names of four candidates

quired by law, and that Republican Dale Studebaker got the most favored position in 133 of the county's 221 precincts. He asked that the election of Studebaker be voided.

EAST LIVERPOOL — WELLSVILLE — TORONTO

Business Hits Higher Level, Topping 1959

Business and industrial activity in the East Liverpool area in 1960 fell short of some post-World War II years, but most lines rounded out the year well ahead of the levels they attained in 1959.

A 12-month statistical summary issued today by the Chamber of Commerce showed gains in 9 indices, compared with 1959, and drops in 5 others.

The upturns were shown in industrial payrolls, sales of new and used cars, bank clearings and debits, postal receipts, river traffic and city parking meter income. There also was a healthy decline in the city's relief case load.

Rounding out 1960 below their 1959 levels were sales tax receipts, average monthly industrial employment, river traffic tonnage and inbound and outbound railroad carloadings.

December did not help the old year make a strong finish. Six indices showed gains, compared with November, but 8 others registered declines.

A long-drawn-out steel strike and a comparatively brief pottery industry strike help hold down the area economy in 1959.

Payrolls at 11 district plants hit $14,468,787 in 1960, a healthy gain of 7.3 per cent over the $13,487,204 shown in 1959. They totaled $1,106,531 in December, off 9.3 per cent from November's $1,220,317.

New car sales in Columbiana County showed a sharp gain of 21.8 per cent in the comparison of the two years. They totaled 4,062 in 1960 against 3,334 in 1959. New car sales totaled 233 in December, off 22.1 per cent from the 299 shown in November.

Used car sales totaled 9,893 in 1960, up 9.1 per cent from the 9,066 shown in 1959. They hit 510 in December, down 31.1 per cent from November's 740.

The city's relief case load averaged 79 monthly in 1960, down 13.2 per cent from the monthly average of 91 recorded in 1959. The city showed 94 cases in December, down 2.1 per cent from November's 96.

Bank clearings totaled $40,132,833 in 1960, up 0.07 per cent from the $39,851,912 shown in 1959. They totaled $3,408,975 in December, a gain of 11.5 per cent from the $3,056,595 shown in November.

Bank debits averaged $22,943,124 monthly in 1960, up 4.5 per cent from the $21,877,508 average shown in 1959. They hit $23,089,102 in December, up 2.8 per cent from November's $22,457,681.

Postal receipts totaled $269,327 in 1960, up 1.8 per cent from the $264,718 shown in 1959. They totaled $22,631 in December, declining 33.7 per cent from November's $44,698.

River traffic through district locks showed 5,306 tows in 1960, a gain of 8.9 per cent from the 4,871 recorded in 1959. The locks handled 396 tows in December, a gain of 11.5 per cent from November's 355.

The 1960 river traffic represented 14,636,250 tons of cargo, down 8.2 per cent from the 15,946,705 tons in 1959. December's traffic represented 1,182,000 tons, a gain of 21.4 per cent from November's 973,950 tons.

The city's parking meter receipts totaled $59,496 in 1960, up 3.2 per cent from the $57,669 shown in 1959. The meters brought in $5,353 in December, off 10.3 per cent from November's $5,970.

Employment at 11 area plants averaged 3,899 monthly in 1960, off 4 per cent from the monthly average of 4,061 shown in 1959. The plants employed 3,762 in December, a drop of 7.5 per cent from November's 4,069.

Inbound railroad carloadings hit 2,859 in 1960, down 21.7 per cent

Break In Economic Slump Revised

'Soaring Sixties' Become Bitter Joke For Ohioans

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There is little hope of a break before mid-year in the economic downturn which has revised predictions of "The Soaring Sixties" into a bitter joke for thousands of Ohioans.

They are the unemployed. Their ranks have grown beyond the quarter-million mark in Ohio, and nationally the total is more than five million.

To this national increase over the past year, Ohio and five other states have contributed almost two-thirds, the U.S. Department of Labor says.

The most optimistic of businessmen and economists think it will be at least the July-to-September quarter before any recovery is really noticeable. Some do think the worst is over, however.

About the only thing that's agreed upon 100 per cent is that the effects of this recession are uneven. In one community, the decline is very apparent. In another, it's scarcely noticed. And often it's uneven in the same area.

Thus, a worker who has been unemployed many weeks often has to endure the sight of his more fortunate neighbors coming and going from their jobs. For those neighbors—if cautious consumer spending, inventory cuts and other curtailments do not quickly affect their line of work—it's as if nothing has happened.

More than five times as many persons are listed for unemployment benefits in Youngstown as the average a year ago. Well over four times the January 1960 average number are claimants in Canton.

Cleveland and Akron totals for new and continuing claimants are double the averages of a year ago, and Cincinnati, Dayton and Toledo totals are approximately twice as large.

These totals are based on Bureau of Unemployment Compensation figures for the week ending Jan. 14, and of course do not take into account those jobless persons not covered, or whose benefits have run out.

In addition, there may be a few who for one reason or another have not applied.

The fact that few economists can see hope for a major pickup before mid-year does not mean that there are no bright spots. Many industries are expanding or plan to expand soon, and a number of communities report new enterprises locating in the area.

There are even a few cases—Lima, for example—where an earlier upturn is hoped for—a second quarter pickup pegged to predictions of a nationwide third quarter improvement and the fact that basic industry usually picks up ahead of the economy as a whole.
